INVESTMENTS.

In regard to the Rockford, Rock Island and St. Louis Railroad a majority of the first mortgage hondholders having assented to the agreement proposed by the company, the coupon due 1st February is now being paid by the Union Trust Company at the rate of 50 per cent of its face value. The terms of the pronositions were as follows, viz.: The bonds to be presented at the office of the Union Trust Company in this city, or at the agency of the company in Germany, where the three conpons unpaid, including August, 1872, are cut off, for which certificates will be issued bearing 4 per ceut interest, payable at the option of the company. The bonds and remaining coupons are then stamped, cancelling 50 per cent of their face value, and certificates of pre ferred stock given for the cancelled half. Upon the assented bonds it is expected the interest will be regularly paid hereafter. No statement is made as to the probability of a dividend on the preferred stock.

As to the Central Iowa Railroad a lease to the Burlington and Missouri is talked of, and seems to be considered quite probable.

We have heretoiore noticed the assent of a majority of the Des Moines Valley bondholders to the proposed agreement which has been heretofore fully noticed in The Chronicle.

An active demand is reported for new railroad bonds.

The completion of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad has given a stimulus to the demand for those bonds, which are now offered at 861 by Messrs. Fisk & Hatch, though an advance is talked of. The Northern Pacific 7-80 gold bonds are reported to be sell. ing freely. The Houston and Texas Central 7 per cent gold bonds are selling at 90 by Messrs. John J. Cisco & Son; the connection north with the Missouri, Kansas & Texas is nearly com. pleted, and the interest in this road is thereby increased. The St. Louis and Southeastern 7 per cent gold bonds at 90 hy Messrs. Winslow & Wilson; the Chicago and Canada southern gold 7s at 90 by Messrs. Winslow, Lanier & Co., and Messrs. Leonard, Sheldon and Foster; the 8 per cent gold bonds of the Logansport, Crawfordsville & Southwestern Railroad at 971 by Messrs. Jones & Schuyler; the Montclair 7 per cent gold bonds by Messrs Allen, Stephens & Co. at par; and the Indiana and Illinois Central gold 7s at 90 by Messrs. Walker & Andrews, are all among the prominent new loans attractive in their terms and in the high rate of interest offered to purchasers.

Chicago & Northwestern Railway .- This Company have Chicago & Northwestern Railway.—This Company have made application to the Stock Exchange to have their consolidated mortgage 7 per cent gold bonds put on the call. This mortgage amounts to $48,000,000, and covers all the property of the company. The company owns and operates 1,689 43-100 miles of railroad, and has leased in perpetuity 356 6-10 miles additional, making a total mileage of 2,046 3-10. The capital was as follows Nov. 30, 1872: Common stock, $14,982,800, and preferred stock, $21,243,200; making a total of $36,226,000. The total bonded debt now outstanding to redeem which an equal amount of the debt now outstanding, to redeem which an equal amount of the new consolidated mortgage bonds is retained, amounts to $35,-

New York and Harlem Railroad.—Sealed proposals will be received by the Treasnrer of the New York & Harlem Railroad, at his office, until 20th instant, for $2,000,000, or any part of the new consolidated mortgage bonds of that company. These bonds are part of the $12,000,000 authorized several months ago, for the purpose of taking up, as they mature, the outstanding bonds, and to defray the cost of sinking the railroad tracks above the Grand Central Depot, at Forty-second street. The bonds are coupon or registered, of the former in denominations of $1,000 each, and of the latter $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000; they bear 7 per cent interest, payable semi-annually, May and November, and mature May 1, 1990.

Boston, Hartford & Eric.—The directors authorized their resident (Lane) to inform the Stock Exchange that they deemed inexpedient and unadvisable to reopen the transfer books at reent

Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

(Returns for Fiscal Year ended September 30, 1872.)

The great Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad is completed, and another through route from the West to Tidewater is thus opened up. A brief history of the road may be interesting in this connection.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad is a consolidation of the Virginia Central and the Covington & Ohio Railroads. The consolidation dates from August 31, 1868, and the first report of the company is that for the year ended September 30, 1868. The consolidation also includes the Blue Ridge Tunnel and Railroad, constructed by the State of Virginia and purchased by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Company. Said State had also expended about $3,000,000 on the Covington & Ohio Railroad, which amount constitutes one of the company's franchises.

Surveys and final locations were completed within a year after the consolidation, and construction commenced in January, 1869. The last rail was laid down in January, 1873. Considering the mountain regions to be scaled in the progress of the work, which necessitated several extensive tunnels, deep cuttings and fillings, &c., the labor has been gigantic and the consummation is a triumph of engineering skill.

The engineers have found great difficulties, but upon the whole the progress of the work has been singularly free from accidents to life and limb, and so far is very satisfactory to those in interest.

The branch from Richmond to tide-water is progressing to completion. It includes a large tunnel under Church Hill, in the city of Richmond. At its seaboard terminus extensive wharves are being constructed at which steamships, foreign and domestic, may have ample berth.

The western connections of the line have been aided liberally by the company and are approaching completion. Cincinnati, Louisville, Memphis and St. Louis will be reached in a short time, and through these cities, the whole North, West and South will be opened up to the scaboard.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of trade that will naturally seek this new avenue; but that it will assume vast proportions and become equally important and beneficent to the West and the country immediately traversed, and not less to the port of Richmond, is too patent to require demonstration. What the N. Y. Central and H. River Railroad and the Eric Railway have been and are to the city and port of New York-what the Pennsylvania Railroad is to Philadelphia, and what the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is to Baltimore this great line will, in a measure be to Richmond. It has one great advantage over any of the aforesaid lines-it is shorter by many miles, and hence must share largely in the great traffic between the seaboard and the western countries. The following table shows the relative all rail distances from the various Western and Southwestern cities to the Atlantic seaboard:

| Miles to Tide-Water at—                                                                                                                      | From Cincinnati | From Louisville                 | From St. Louis                    | From Memphis                        | From Nashville                    | From Columbus, O.               | From Indianapolis.              | From Chicago                    |  |

Georgia Bondholders,-On behalf of the American holders of Georgia bends, Col. Snead submitted the following proposals to the Governor:

"We promise to advance to the State as the State may within the next twelve months require for the payment of its past and maturing interest, and also to use our best endeavors, which we have every reason to believe will be successful, to so completely establish the credit of the State within that time that shall experience no further difficulty in selling its bonds at and above 90, if the State shall on its part declare its willingness:

1. To pay to bona fide holders of semi-annual gold bonds, issued under the second section of the act of October 17, 1870, the amounts which they have respectively paid for or advanced upon sald bonds and interest, such payment to be made, if the State desire it, in new State bonds at 90, upon a surrender to the State of the bonds now outstanding.

2. To pay to J. Boarman Johnston and the Fulton Bank of Brooklyn money which they have actually advanced on currency bonds held by them respectively; such payment to be made, if the State desire it, as in the preceding condition.

3. To recognize the validity of all outstanding gold quarterly bonds issued under the act of September 15, 1870, when Henry Clews & Co. and Habicht & Co. shall have settled their accounta with the State, or when the basis of such settlement shall have with the State, or when the basis of such settlement shall have been agreed upon, and those firms shall have agreed to surrender to the State its securities now held by them.

4. To carry cut the provisions of the acts of March 28, 1869, as to the indorsement of the Brunswick and Albany first mortgage bonds, when said railroad shall be in good running and working order from Brunswick to the Alabama line, and when the outstanding indersed bonds shall have been surrendered to the State.

5. To guarantee the first mortgage bonds of the Cherokee Valley Railroad Company provided in the net of March 12, 1869, and acts amendatory thereof, when said company shall have in good faith complied with the requirements of said act, and when all the guaranteed bonds of the Cartersville and Van Wert Railroad and of the Cherokee Valley Railroad shall have been surrendered to the State."

Gov. Smith, it is stated, is favorably disposed to it, and will, in a short time, if he has not already done so, communicate this overture to the General Assembly with a recommendation to accept it.

Tennessee Finances.—By a recent decision in the courts of Tennessee, the "new issue" of the Bank of Tennessee is declared legal. This places it (the new issue) in the same position as the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States placed the old issue of the Bank of Tennessee, and makes it receivable for all dues to the State. The amount outstanding is estimated at $1,500,000, and unless otherwise provided for by the Legislature of that State it will have to be absorbed by taxation; in which event it will defer the time when the State can resume the payment of interest on its bonds, probably a year or more.—Evening

Florida Finances.—The Comptroller General's report shows riorua finances.—The Comptroller General's report shows the following facts concerning the finances of the State of Florida. The receipts into the trensury for the year ending December 31, 1872, were $257,233-54, while the warrants drawn amounted to $304,214-35. Of the revenue assessed for 1872, only $3,994-33 had been paid in at the date of the report. The bulk of the revenue paid in, or nearly one-half of it ($128,358-06), was derived from the assessment of 1874 while there is still outstanding and the control of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the research of the r from the assessment of 1871, while there is still outstanding on the assessment for that year $180,256-25. - Kausas Registered Bonds.—A dispatch from Topeka, Kansas, Jan. 30, states that the State Anditor's registry of bonds was discovered to contain entries of $200,000 in bonds purporting to have eovered to contain entries of $200,000 in bonds purporting to have been issued by the cities of Gregory, Cloud and Budlong, in Cherokee county, Kansas, to the Memphis, Carhage and North Western Railroad Company. There are no such places in Kansas, The names are the names of prominent citizens of Carthage, Missouri. There are two sets of bonds for each city, bearing 7 per cent interest, and payable at the National Park Bank, New York. One hundred of the bonds, amounting to $50,000, were registered on the 20th of December, 1872, and the remainder on January 9, 1873, which was three days before the present Administration was installed. istration was installed.

Scima, Rome & Dalton Railroad.—Judge Busteed, on 28th ult., appointed W. L. Lanier receiver of the Selma, Rome & Dalton Railroad, on a bill filed by Aimee and others to have the assets administered according to priority claims. The appointment of a receiver will not interfere with the movement of freight or passively. senger trains.

The Michigan Central Railroad Company .- President Joy states in a circular to the stockholders, dat d January 1, 1873.

During the past season, stockholders are aware, there have been very large expenditures for the permanent improvement of the property of the company. Seventy miles of double track have been graded, bridged and prepared for the rail. Owing to delays in delivery of steel rails, after contracts and the early winter, this extent of track has not been fully completed. Alout forty miles of it however are assumbted rails. this extent of track has not been fully completed. J.)—Thenton, N. J., Feb. 5, 1873.—The Vice Chancellor delivered an elaborate opin on this morning

The Vice-Chancellor delivered an elaborate opin on this morning on the bill praying for a preliminary injunction against the National Railway Company, the Stanhope Railroad Company and others, the Pennsylvania Railway Company being the complainants. The several charters by which the National Railroad Company propose to construct a through road between Pilladelphia and New York were reviewed at length, and the conclusion in each was that they had no right under them to construct a through road, and that to use them for that purpose was a fraud He ruled for the complainants on every point, and granted the injunction against the National Railway Company.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the company, held at their effice, No. 218 South Fourth street, on the 13th inst., the following officers were elected: President, Henry Lewis; Vice-President, Henry M. Hamilton. Directors: William G. Case, Jacob Riegel, John P. Verree, Robert R. Uabecu, Henry Carpenter, M. D., C. S. Kauffman, Sannel K. Wilson, A. S. Livingston, S. P. Wolverton, A. S. ## COTTON.

FRIDAY, P. M., February 7, 1873.

By special telegrams received to-night from the Southern ports, we are in possession of the returns showing the receipts, exports, &c., of cotton for the week ending this evening, Feb. 7. It appears that the total receipts for the seven days have reached 126,521 bales against 114,616 bales last week, 135,493 bales the previous week and 136,225 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts since the first of September, 1872, 2,379,826 bales against 2,003,053 bales for the same period of 1871-72, showing an increase since September 1, 1872, of 376,773 bales. The details of the receipts for this week (as per telegraph) and for the corresponding weeks of the five previous years are as follows:

The market has been very dull and depressed the past week, and although closing with a steadier tone, and in fact showing some reaction, there is a decline for the week of 1c. for cotton on the spot, and 1-16@4c. for future delivery, the greatest decline being for the early and the smallest for the later months. The causes of the downward turn have been various; but most conspicuous among them has been the dullness and depression at Liverpool aud Mauchester. This has been a great disappointment to shippers, who seem to have believed that the comparatively small stocks of American cottou in foreign markets and the firmness of prices in this and other home markets would at least have the effect of holding Liverpool steady, even if that market did not advance. The liberal receipts at our ports, however, especially the early part of the week, was probably the immediate cause of the depression at Liverpool, and the downward turn there reacted upon this market, resulting in a loss of speculative confidence and increased offerings of lots held on speculation. Snow in the streets and ice in the harbor and sound have rendered shipments difficult, and helped to check the demand from spinners. For future delivery there has been but little spirit, and on Wednesday prices were about &c. below the close on Saturday. Thursday there was some reaction, and to-day there was a further advance, there was some reaction, and to-day there was a further advance, the close being 1-16@3-16c. above Weinesday. The prices for futures last reported were (basis low middling) 20%c. for February, 20 9-16. for March, 20 15-16 for April, 21½c. for May, and 21 9-16c for June. The total sales of this description for the week are 90,500 bales, including .... tree on board. For immediate delivery the total sales foot, up this week 4,221 bales, including 1,384 for export, 2,286 for consumption, 551 for speculation, and none in transit. Of the above 360 bales were to arrive. The following are the closing quotations to-day: ing are the closing quotations to-day:

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—During the past week, it has rained one day (showery) at New Orleans. At Montgomery Selma, Columbus and Macon, there has been rain on two days, and at Charleston one day: our telegram from Montgomery adds that now it is pleasaut. Fine weather is reported by our correspondent at Augusta. At Memphis it has rained on two days; our correspondents at Memphis also state that the rivers are now free, but the wagon roads have been bad; heavy receipts are auticipated next week on account of the improved coudition of the roads. There has been rain on one day at Nashville, but the weather has now become more settled and pleasant. The thermometer has averaged at Memphis 41, Charleston 50, Macon 42, Columbus 56, and at Montgomery 57.

FUTURE DELIVERY CONTRACTS .- It strikes us that a word of caution to buyers of future cotton will not be out of place at the present time, for evidently there are laws of this new trade which are not regarded by very many of this class of operators.

1. They seem to forget, or they disregard the fact, that the position and influence of the factors who hold the stock of actual cotton in the market are always against them. When trade demand is about equal to the existing supply of cotton in hand. the artificial demand in the latter part of a month to cover contracts, gives to factors an opportunity by which they profit, and their whole interest is on the side of the bulls. Should it happen, as it has not yet this season, that a subsidence of trade demand concurring with large arrivals of cotton, puts an excessive supply on the market in any month, that would be the opportunity for depression sought by the bears; but then, the factors are all arrayed in resistance to them. In the long course, the odds for this reason alone are heavy; they are greater than the odds against the man who plays against the bank at faro or rouge-et-against the man who plays against the bank at laro or ronge-ernoir.

2. The bears seem to ignore another fact of greater importance —that it is they who furnish the stick with which they are beaten, the strength of their adversaries. In any current month, without their necessity to cover "shorts," the local market would be subject to the ordinary influences of the trade for fixing the prices. Adding that necessity to the extent perhaps of twice the stock in market, puts it in the power of the bulls and the co-operating factors to fix their own prices for settlement. That cover has no limit other than the interest of those who hold it power has no limit other than the interest of those who hold it, which interest ferbids the bulls to carry the price so high as to make them owners of the cotton stock. Month after month the same thing is repeated with the same result. Even if the bears have crop advices, weekly receipts, the statistics of consumption, and every other theoretical point in their favor all the early part of the month, as settling day approaches, all these must go for nothing against the immediate fact that there is not and cannot be in the market enough cotton to meet this artificially doubled and quadrupled demand.

3. Now, we suggest as a relief to the situation, that these bearish people, while indulging in their speculative propensity, and following their own view of future prices, continue to make contracted they so desire, but none to mature within two months; and as the progress of time shall carry them one month nearer to the maturity of a contract, proceed at once to cover it with the purchase of another of even maturity or of actual cotton. It would, indeed, reduce the speculative chances, especially the bears' chances of loss, for it would divest the market in each current month of all uncovered shorts, leaving the prices to be adjusted as in old times by trade proper, yet giving to each operator the full benefit of his superior forecast of coming months. It would kill the heavy odds that run against the bears and in favor of the bulls now, and the influence of crop prospects, consumption, money market, &c., would be felt again on current prices, no longer under the effect of the simple folly of the bears. Manufacturers, exporters, and regular dealers in cotton would be pleased to have restored the normal condition of markets, and to escape the capricions changes of one oversold or overbought.

Solomon said something of the result of braying a lool in a mortar, and of both answering and of not answering a fool according to his folly. It may be vain to reason with men who continually set a trap for themselves. Yet, possibly, not all the bears are so infatnated as to persist in being gored every month when they see how almost inevitably they must fail to squeeze the bulls without first accumulating an overloading stock of HAMBURG COTTON MOVEMENT FOR 1872.-In our review of the different European cotton markets last week, we stated that some of the figures for Hamburg had not reached us. To-day, however, we are able to give the following full statement of the movement at that port, as published in the Borsenhalle of Hamburg:

BOMBAY SHIPMENTS.—According to our cable dispatch received to day, there have been 19,009 bales shipped from Bombay to Great Britain the past week and 5,000 bales to the continent, while the receipts at Bombay, during the same time have been 31,000 bales. The movement since the first of January Is as follows. These are the figures of W. Nicol & Co., of Bombay, and are brought down to Thursday, Feb. 6:

Shipments this week to Great Con.

Shipments this week to Great Con.

Bitch. Total.

Great Britain. 45,000 Britain. tinent. Total. Britain. 1873. 19,000 5,000 24,000 45,000 1872... 6,000 6,000 12,000 103,000 tinent. 25,000 25,000 Total, receipts, 70,000 31,000 1872.... 6,000 6,000 12,000 1871.... 11,000 1,000 12,000 133,000 46,000 69,000 12,000 81,000 25,000

From the foregoing it would appear that compared with last year there is an increase this year in the week's shipments to Great Britain of 13,000 hales, and that the total movement since Jan. 1 shows a decrease in shipments of 63,000 bales over the corresponding period of 1872.

Gunny Bags, Bagging, &c.—Bagging has ruled quiet and about at last week's quotations. Dealers are still filling small orders for the South at 13@134c. cash. Can buy from second hands at 124c. the South at 13@13½c. cash. Can buy from second hands at 12½c, immediate delivery, and 13½@13½c. March, April and May de ivery, C.O.D. Bags have ruled steady. There are numerous inquiries for consumption in the market, but we hear of no sales. Holders are firm at 15c. cash asked, and though buyers have advanced are firm at 15c. cash asked, and though buyers have advanced their views, they have not done so sufficiently to meet hollers' ideas. Butts are steady, and about at last quotations. Sales during the past week have been as follows: 1,000 bales New York, 2 1-16c. cash; 300 do., 2 1-16c. cash; 100 do., 2½c. 30 days; 500 do., 2 1-16c. cash; 500 bales Boston, 2½c. cash; 250 do., 2 1-16c. cash, though the generality of holders want 2½c. cash and thue, and some even firm at 2½c. 60 days. Contracts January to June shipment can be had at 2½c2 1-16c, gold. Advices by cable quote higher cost in Calcutts and if this checks shipments we may higher cost in Calcutta, and if this checks shipments we may higher cost in Calcutta, and if this checks shipments we may expect higher prices here.

VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON MADE UP BY CABLE AND TELE-GRAPH.—By cable we have to-night the stocks at the different European ports, the India cotton affoat for all of Europe, and the American affoat for each port as given below. From figures thus received, we have prepared the following table, showing the quantity of cotton in sight at this date (Feb. 7) of each of the

BREADSTUFFS

FRIDAY P. M., Feb. 7, 1873.

The market has been inactive and unsettled, with somewhat of a downward tendency during the past week.

The receipts of flour have been rather more liberal, but still moderate; receivers have shown a disposition to sell promptly on arrival, from wharf, and have consequently made concessions in prices when it has been necessary to do so. The demand has been limited. The local trade are still deterred from buying freely by the difficult and expensive drayage, while with shippers there has been an absence of orders, and the speculative feeling has wholly subsided. Fair Western shipping extras, which recently sold at $7 75 for February and March delivery, have been offered in the past week at $7 60. To day the market was sleady, but a storm checked business.

The wheat market has also been quite unsettled, with only a moderate degree of activity. Early in the week there was some speculation, and latterly an apparent effort to depress prices. A considerable portion of the business done has been on private terms. Towards the close the shipping demand has improved, and eight or ten boat loads of No. 2 Chicago have been taken at $1 64@1 67 in store and affoat. Yesterday, No. 2 Milwaukee sold at $1 70 in store. A few loads of this quality have been taken this week for shipment to Virginia. Winter wheats have been very dull, and prices show some weakness. To-day no sales were Indian corn has been variable, and yet the fluctuations have beeu slight. The receipts of new corn from the West have been quite small; but from the South and New Jersey supplies are more liberal, though still quite moderate, so that purchases to any extent could not be made without drawing upon the stock of old mixed in store. Holders did not meet buyers very freely, however, until yesterday, when a large line of prime old Western mixed, in store, sold for export at 64c, and one boat load of yellow at 651c., while prime new mixed, afloat, sold at 66c. To-day, there was no change in prices, but a very limited demand.

Rye has remained quiet, with prices nominally as last quoted. Barley has been dull, and the poorer qualities, being more freely offered, have shown some depression. Oats have been in better supply, and prices have yielded a fraction, prime mixed closing at 54c, for new affoat, and 531c. for old in store,

GROCERIES.

PRIDAY EVENING, Feb. 7, 1878. There is beginning to be an improved demand for parcels of groceries for distribution in the interior, and the market shows an increased activity in a jobbing way. The movement is unattended by any material changes in quotable values, and the general tone of the market is fairly steady at previous rates Coffee has been strengthened by an improved call for jobbing parcels and involces, and favorable advices from itlo. Sugar has eased off a fraction, and with more liberal sales at the close shows a stronger tone. Foreign fruits remain very quiet, and are barely steady. Spices are strong, with rather more activity.

The demand for lines of teus has been active since our last report, and more llberal amounts have passed into consumption through focal channels and to the interior. The demand for invoices has been fair, but in the absence of pressing wants on the part of buyers, they are rather slow to meet holders views, and transactions are not closed without some delay. There is a fair degree of steadiness in the market, however, and holders are not disposed to yield anything in favor of buyers, as the position here and the outlook continue rather more fuvorable for the owners of stock. Oslongs have been sell ing to a fair extent, and are firmly held by importers, especially in the better grades. Greens are strong at unchanged rates, with a fair business doing. Japane have sold to a fair aggregate extent, and are held at previous rates. The supply is pretty full for this period of the year, but the fact that recent sales have reduced stocks somewhat, and that several supplies are held to the interior, make holders more hopeful, and lend firmness to values. The followlog are the sales: 11,500 half chests Oolongs, 3,325 do. Jupans, 5,000 do. Greens 400 do, Southong, 550 boxes Pingsueys 400 do, Souchong, 550 nores ringsueys.

Imports this week have included 848, 481 lbs. Black, per "Tamerlane," from Amoy, and 92,221 lbs. Black and 270,135 lbs. Green, per "N. B. Palmer," from Shanghui; 42,120 lbs. Black and 1,015,671 lbs. Green, per "Duke of Atbol," from Shanghai. The receipts indirectly have been 2,430 pkgs. by rail overland.

The following table shows the imports of Tea into the United States from January 1 to date, in 1873 and 1872:

Total Atlantie ports, 1873...1bs. 2519.237 2.281.5680 2.1.1.25 5.0734.5 Atlantie ports, 1872... 2.744.67 2.981.712 1.764.03 7.2540.405 The indirect receipts at New York, principally overland receipts from San Francisco, bave heet 11,536 pkgs. since January 1, against 21,661 last year. Imports at San Francisco since January 1, 1873, were lbs. of China and lbs. of Japan tea.

COFFEE.

The market at the opening of the week was extremely quiet, and there was a natural disposition among buyers to look for easier rates. Brokers were inclined to regard the market as a shade off, although the quotable range was not altered. Toward the latter part of the week a slightly improved call from invoice purchasers developed the fact that holders were firm at previous rates, and that no concessions could be obtained. The itlo telegram, which was received on Wednesday, was of a very firm tenor, and had a arregathening effect upon our market. The quotations were chiefly 9$800, thought two of the telegrams quoted 10$200. The latter price, however, is thought to refer to a grade of coffee rather above the average classification of "American lots." The purchases reported for the United States were rather heavy, but as they were made chiefly by heavy American houses their effect is rather beneficial to our market, since they are taken as indicating a feeling among buyers in Rio thatt the market there will go bigher. The India grades are nearly sold out of first hands, and the small supplies remaining are held with firmness. Some large transactions have been closed in West India grades from first hands, and prices are unchanged and fully austained. The sales include 37,193 mata Java, 1,297 mats Singapore, 2,590 bags Laguayra, 421 bags Maracibo, 125 Java, 199 Mexican, 97 Jamaica, all sold in lots for consumption; 3,506 bags Rio, ex "J: F. Erricson," 2,600 do. ex "Brazilianeran," 545 ex "Iona," 6,200 resold ex "Asta," and 947 Santos ex "Esperance;" 3,999 Rio, at Baltimore, ex "O. Blanchard;" at New Orleans, 3,500 ex "B. Stincken;" and 4,201 ex "Ernest," 3,200 per "Gerhard Godwin," at Galveston.

Imports at New York the past week have included 3,600 bags Rio, per "Sloasten," and 947 do. Santos, per "Experance."

SUGAR.

The week opened with a limited call from refiners, but transactions were too light to give firmness to the market, and by the middle of the week holders of refining sugars had coaceded fully another eighth in bayer's favor. This reduction in rates had a tendency to increase the demand from refiners and a few of the heaviest users of centrifugals became fairly liberal opera tors. At the new basis of quotations-834@9c. for fair to good Cuba-the market shows more steadiness, and closes with a moderate call. The transactions are mainly of centrifugal angars only a few small lots of other des-The new arrivals have been nearly all taken criptions having been moved. amp by the refining demand, and the week cloves with reduced stocks. At the same time refiners are poorly supplied either with refined grades or raws, and with the improvement in the trade demand which is looked for at an early day there would be a necessary improvement in the demand for refining. These facts combine to strengthen the market, and the tone is rather better than at the close of last week. Refined augars have sold more freely on country orders, but are lower, and close somewhat Irregular. High grades of bards are scarce, and cut loaf and crushed are rather firmer than the remainder of We note sales of about 1,000 hhds. MOLASSES.

The general market for molasses remnins rather quiet, and the duluess is still due to the absence of stock suitable for beiling purposes. The only supplies of this quality that we have had for some time have been the two cargoes of New Cuba Muscovado, which have arrived recently. The sale of the first was reported in our last, and this week, another cargo of 342 hhds., and 39 tesfrom Clenfucgos has been placed at 31% ets. This leaves the market almost bare again and the demand which is fair, remains unsupplied. The stock of Cuba has run down to 1,801 hhds. including no Muscovado grocery, quotations for which we omit. The trade demand has been fair, and some, small lots of Porto Rico and English Islands have been placed. The call is mainly, however, for domestic qualities and the better grades of these have taken an upward turn. Choice New Orleans has been sold as high as 77 cts. in lots, and a sale nt anction, brought 75 cts. Syrups continue in good request with liberal sales to the south. The low grades are now well sold out, and there is very little stock offerling under 40 cts. Sugar house molasses is held in reduced supply and the sales here are necessarily small. The prices remain 18 @ 19c. for hhds., and 23c. for bbls. Sales have been effected since our last of 600 bbls domestic at 67@77c., and 312 hhds. and 39 tes. Cuba Muscovado for boiling 31%c.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 7, 1873

The market is firm with a steady improvement in the demand fer all kinds of goods both in a jobbing and package way. The season is advancing rapidly, and buyers from the West and Northwest have been prevented from stocking up earlier by the severe weather that has prevailed during the past six weeks Total entered at the port.17,781 $8,502,786 10,187 $4,288,566 throughout the country. State buyers and those from other localities near by are in the market in large numbers, and are operating with considerable freedom in staples for their spring stocks. There seems to be everything to indicate a good spring business, and dealers are very hopeful, especially on domestic goods. The firmness in cotton fabrics is not participated in to any extent by woolens, although there is a fairly steady tone on spring weight woolens, and the traffic in these fabrics has improved somewhat since our last report. Collections are reported fairly easy by our merchants, and the season opens with the dry goods interest favorably situated and encouraging prospects for DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—Brown sheetings and shirtings sold fairly both in full packages and from jobbers' hands. The distribution has included more general assortments as the demand comes mainly from the classes of dealers who are making up their spring assortments. Standards and fine browns of all of the more popular brands are largely sold ahead, and the supply is far below the amount usually held at this period of the year, even the stocks in second hands being light. Bleached goods are selling fairly, but there is not much real activity except in the best grades and brands. Colored cottons have not begun to sell with very much freedom as yet, but the absence of excessive supplies prevents any weakness, and full previous quotations rule. There has been a good demand for medium colorings of prints, with some inquiry for light shirting stripes, but other white grounds are dull. Percales have begun to sell moderately, but are not very active as yet. The market is strong at quotations. Ginghams are in moderate request at steady rates. Other cotton goods are strong, with limited selections of jobbing lots.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS .- The demand for fancy spring cassimeres has improved to some extent, and the movement has become fairly liberal, though sales are not yet fully up to expectations. The agents for goods that have been kept up to their standard quality report a good movement and are obtaining fair rates. Goods of an inferior quality are slow of sale, however, and buyers are not disposed to take these grades except at lower rates. Manufacturers are endeavoring to reduce the production of woolen fabrics, but have not succeeded in effecting any concerted movement. There is some demand for faced woolens at steady prices. American dress fabrics have opened with a good degree of activity, and these goods are selling more satisfactorily than any other class of woolens.

Foreign Goods.-Jobbing sales are small in imported goods the selections being restricted to a few staple lines. From first hands the trade has been more liberal, and the market rules bnoyant throughout. The distribution of dress fabrics, alpacas and mohairs from first hands was somewhat better, and there was some inquiry for 1,400 and 1,600 Scotch ginghams, which appear in considerable variety, not only in solid checks but in fancies, with gray and chene effects, some of which are very desirable. There was a sustained demand for some descriptions of French and English cassimeres and suitings, but there was no noticeable degree of activity in these goods. Linens were generally quiet. and there was not much animation in white goods.

THE RAILWAY MONITOR.

The first number of the RAILWAY MONITOR (identity) was published January 15, 1873.

The characteristic feature of the Moniton consists in its furnishing the most complete reports and freshest intelligence concerning every railroad in the country, so classified and indexed that each item of information can always be referred to with the utmost convenience.

A Handsome File Cover or Hinder for current numbers, is furnished gratis to every new subscriber for one year.

A Standing Index is continued from number to number, so that all railroad matters published within the year can he referred to by the last number issued.

The Monitor is in no respects intended to take the place of the Railroad Department of the Chronicic, but is expressly intended to sapply a want long felt by the readers of that department, in giving numerous reports and details of railroad information, which could never be given in the limited space allowed in the columns of the latter.

INTERIOR BANK DEPOSITS AND THE OUTFLOW OF GREEN-BACKS.

The chief discussions in Wall street are more or less connected with the new loan and the influence its negotiation is likely to have in modifying the forces now at work in the money market. These forc s seem to be acting in an irregular and unexpected way. The ease that was looked for is still slow to return, and some persons are beginning to cast about for the reasons of the delay, while others are losing their confidence that the stringency will be notably relaxed this season.

These misgivings are founded in part on the continued inadequacy of the greenback reserves. The flow of currency this way does not raise the level of these reserves, as it usually has done in previous years. One reason for this is the heavy orders for greenbacks which have had to be sent to the financial centres in the interior. We are informed that the banks of the Western States are getting more and more into the habit of redeeming at Chicago, St. Louis, and other cities in the West, instead of rede ming at New York, as they used to do. This is an embarrassing tendency, and if it spreads in any notable degree it will materially complicate the future working of the money market.

This will be evident on a very brief consideration. The thirty-second section of the banking law compels the banks of the sixteen chief cities to redeem in New York. But all banks in other cities may redeem in either of the sixteen cities, or they may redeem if they please in New York instead. Now, a great number of the banks outside of the sixteen cities have in fact redeemed in New York and have kept their balances here. But on these balances the New York banks pay but 4 per cent. interest, and some of our banks refuse to pay any interest at all. Since the Chicago fire the banks of that city have begun, it is said, to allow 5 or 6 per cent.; and in exceptional cases as high a rate as 8 per cent, is alleged to have been paid on balances left in some of the banks at Chicago or other western cities. Such is the story current here. It is well worthy of examina-We recommend Mr. Knox, the Comptroller, to investigate the facts and give the results of the examination to the public.

Of course the change adverted to cannot be repressed as being unlawful. The banks which remove their balances to Western centres have a perfect right under the 32d section of the act to place their money where it will earn them the highest rate of interest. What we have to say against the removal is based on general principles. When t'e National Bank act was first passed the provision of multiplying the interior centres of redemption was objected to on this very ground that it would decentralize the banking system, and introduce a number of evils by which the danger of panic would be increased. This tendency in the banks to remove their balances from New York to other centres in the West is important in other points of view and will bear watching. At present we only notice it as one of the causes to which is ascribed the depletion in the reserves in our city banks and the dispersion of the greenbacks among the banks of the interior, while the remittances of currency this way are more and more confined to national bank notes.

The presence in the money market of a large quantity of finance paper is also mentioned as another cause of the pressure under which the machinery seems to be working. But this unfavorable symptom is gradually being corrected, and has since the close of the year been less complained of.

Another potent cause to which the disappearance of greenbacks is with justice ascribed by our city banks is the hoarding process that is going on in the South. The planters have been growing rich of late; as cotton, which costs them some 12 cents to raise, can be sold at their own doors for 18 to 20 cents, and as these men are not afflicted with the old habit of profuse expenditure which before the war impoverished them, the increase of personal wealth is very noteworthy. Till within the last few years our Southern citizens seem to have had less attraction for greenbacks, and their hoards were made up chiefly of gold and silver. Now, however, the greenbacks are hoarded in turn; and it is observed by our banks that currency sent South is very slow to come back to us.

As to the Syndicate and their expected influence on the money market it is chiefly confined to the prospect of an export of gold in payment for the called Five-Twen-The 100 millions of bonds which were to be called for May 1st will not be taken in, it is said, till June 1st, as the Secretary rescinded his call and will reissue it at the close of this month. Whether this be done or not, the members of the Syndicate still persist in affirming that the anticipated export of gold will not take place, as the ar rangements to be made preclude that contingency and render it wholly impossible. If this should turn out true there wil! be one cause the less for apprehension in the money market. Still the expectation of ease is, in no aspect of the case, as bright as it has been, and the rates for mercantile accommodations constitute an oppressive incubus on industrial enterprise which does not seem likely to be soon shaken off.

IS THE SYNDICATE A SUCCESS!

The members of the Syndicate in this city have been much abused for their reticence in regard to the new loan, its future prospects, and its recent seeming failure. Without pretending to approve all they have said and done in regard to the conflicting information given to the press we are inclined to think that the Syndicate here do not deserve the whole blame. What there is of obloquy should be mostly flung elsewhere. We will try to explain why we think so. And, first of all, let us caution the public against believing that the Syndicate is a failure. It is not a brilliant success, we admit. But it is the very reverse of a failure. In a certain sense it is a success—in the sense which suits the great capitalists who have to do with its negotiation in Europe. If, therefore, any of us go about proclaiming the loan a failure let him beware of selling the bonds short.

The folly of doing this must be evident to any man of ordinary apprehension if he will only think for a moment what it is that the Syndicate have got. They have persuaded M. Boutwell to give them, in his simple reliance on their good taith, an option for these 300 millions of new fives. This privilege is to run till 31st December next. In exchange for this option they take no risk, they pay no money, they make no deposit they give no guarantee.

We are wrong. There is one risk, or guarantee, or deposit, we scarcely know which to call the stipulation. The Syndicate agree to buy ten millions of bonds outright. For these they pay a price which, as we have heretotore shown, is equivalent to 98½. This is all the sale of bonds which Mr. Boutwell is sure of accomplishing. If the Syndicate refuse to buy more than ten millions, then Mr. Boutwell has no redress. He cannot compel them to take a single bond beyond this. On the contrary, they can compel him to refuse to sell five per cent. bonds to anybody else during this year. He is bound in regard to the whole three hundred millions.

The Syndicate are not bound except to take ten millions, and as no one but themselves can get the bonds, they have full control of the market and can make the bonds as scarce as they like. They can keep the supply in market down to the ten millions above referred to, or they can feed the market with a large or a small sum per month just as may suit their speculations and their chances for gain. From all this it is plain that they can make a close corner in the new bonds if they so please. And this is one reason why we say that a man must be very foolish indeed to sell these bonds short.

But there are other indications that the Syndicate is, or must be, a success. First, they have little or no chance of loss; for, as we have said, they have agreed to take but ten millions, and they have absolute control of the new issues for the whole of this year. They have already sold more than that sum. If they market these ten millions, or any larger aggregate, they will succeed so far at least as to save themselves from loss, and will, perchance make great gains, in the possible event of a "corner." This, then, is one element of success so far as risk of loss is concerned.

Secondly, the Syndicate are immensely powerful in Europe. Nobody who is familiar with the secret springs which the Rothschilds and the Barings hold in their hands, for the control of the finance movements of Europe, can for a moment doubt that these men could have got 500 or 600 millions of subscriptions in Europe as easily as 50 or 60 millions. If this bs so, these financial potentates deceived, or at least disappointed, their brothers at this end of the syndicate machine. At the American end it was wished, from patriotic motives and from personal enthusiasm, to have the loan pass off with a flourish of trumpets. Not so at the European end. They have got, or think they have got, an option which is good for a large sum in future prospective For our patriotism they care little. The speculations. personal mortification or disappointment which galls their associates at this side is nothing to these European princes. They will take just as much or just as little of the new loan as they please-that is, just as much as suits their views of profit. To these mer, therefore, the loan must be a success. How can it be otherwise? They have got the Secretary to make a bargain without parallel in the history of Government finance in this country, or almost in any other country. And they are too shrewd not to make it pay.

But, say our citizens, this sort of success is not what we mean. It is not the success of the Syndicate in a money-making operation that we are anxious about. We want to know whether our new bonds will be taken, whether three hundred millions of six per cents will be called in this year and their place supplied by fives, so that the burden of the national debt may be reduced and its pressure on the resources of the country eased.

The problem, as will be seen, is exactly what we have shown the difficulty of solving. These three hundred millions of bonds will all be sold if it should be made for the interest of the Syndicate to sell them. If it be not for their advantsge—if they cannot get the short interest or speculative profits they want, then the bonds may perhaps not be disposed of at all. Mr. Boutwell or his successor may have sold at the end of next December ten millions, or one hundred millions, of these five per cents; the remaining two hundred and ninety millions, or such part as the absolute pleasure of the Syndicate shall determine to refuse, will still be left in the Treasury.

What remains then is that the Treasury shall make it incumbent on the Syndicate to take the whole 300 millions, or throw up the contract. How this can be done in conformity with the terms of the agreement is the very point which is the most anxiously discussed in Washington. The latest story is that Mr. Boutwell has threatened the Syndicate to cancel the contract, except they furnish guarantees that there is a bona fide intention to carry out the bargain according to its spirit and intention, and that he will require 100 millions to be taken at once, so that he can call 100 millions of Five-Twenties on the 1st March As soon as the Syndicate find that Mr. Boutwell is not to be cajoled, or at the least, that the credit of the United States Is not to be trifled with, these gentlemen will, no doubt, come to terms. Meanwhile, however, let us throw the obloquy where it belongs, and beware of blaming more than they deserve, the American members of the Syndicate who, so far as appears, have honestly fufilled their duty and have acted in good faith throughout the whole negotiation, We incline to think that if the Syndicate are made to understand that their contract must be thrown up if the sale of the bonds is not forthwith guaranteed, there will be no more difficulty. This is one of the preliminary conditions wanted to make the Syndicate a success in all points.

THROUGH FREIGHT CHARGES AND THE RAILROADS OF THE WEST.

The western papers are giving some prominence to an elaborate address of Governor Bross a few days ago at the Iowa Industrial Convention, on the vexed question of through transportation from the grain producing states to The main points urged in this speech the seaboard. were those of which at this season of closed trans portation by water, we usually hear so much. For example, there is first the surplus of the grain product of the Mississippi Valley, which forces the western farmers to burn their corn for fuel; next there is the assumed certainty that this surplus will be constantly enlarging by the growth of the population, by the disproportion between the increase of railroads, and the increase of the work that is growing up for those roads to do. These standard topies Mr. Bross illustrated by graphic and gloomy pictures of the condition to which the farming interest in the west may, at no distant day, be reduced by lower prices of produce; higher rates for freights, with contracted facilities for getting grain to market, and the tardy expansion of our land and water transportation. In the great grain districts comprising the states of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesots, Nebraska, and Wisconsin, says Mr. Bross, "the ratio of inoresse of population for the ten years between 1860 and 1870, is sixty-four per cent. The same ratio would give these states in 1890, 30,500,000 people. In the year 1872, there were built in these states half as many miles of railway as during the previous ten years; but this increase has only added to the perplexities of the situation by augmenting facilities for settlement, while means of getting the product thereof to market remain the same. Despite the enormous increase in population, and in the grain seeking shipment, only one through road between the West and the seaboard has been built since 1855. And he suggests that the only two outlooks for relief are first the breaking out of a war in Europe, which would interrupt the export of grain in the Baltic ports and in those of the Mediterranean, or secondly the improvement of our lake and canal navigation. He particularly instanced the project of the "Huron and Ontario Ship canal, from the Georgian Bay to Toronto the cost of which lies between $24,000,000 and $40,000,000, according American and European estimates. He believed that six cents a bushel saved on freights for ten years would pay the bill, and the same sum saved on grain imported into Great Britain would pay for it in five years."

There are two points of view from which we might reply to these arguments. First, in regard to the facts on which they are based, and next as to the spirit in which they are, urged. With respect to the evils which Mr. Bross here sets forth, his exposition has our hearty assent. His remedies. however, are by no means worthy of the subject or the occasion. The canal he advocates would be trozen up half the year; and as to the war-cloud in Europe and the Orient, that is likely to dissipate itself quite harmlessly. The great outlet for the teeming grain crops of the West for some years to come will be by through railroad transportation. We would by no means be understood as belittling the value of the canal transportation, or of its projected improvements, among which that mentioned by Mr. Bross stands by no means in the chief place, or is the most likely to be first realized. Such extension of our great highways from the West to the Atlantic ports have, on the contrary, received our warmest support, so far as they are practicable and sound. The history of the past twenty-five years shows, however, that the chief reliance of the West, for some years to come, must be placed rather in railroads than in canals. In Mr. Bross's speech, which fairly represents the feeling of the West, we see therefore an argument for railway improvement and a new stimulus for urging it forward vigorously. For these reasons, and for many others, this question of railroad extension is, both to the West and to the East, one of the vital economic questions of the day.

Secondly, from the spirit of complaint in which Mre-Bross's facts are set forth, we most emphatically dissent, so far at least as it implies that the West has been neglected in the march of our railroad improvement. On the contrary, the Western States have had in past years, and will still attract in the present year, their full share of the railroad capital expended in perfecting our network of railroad transportation.

In The Chronicle for January 11 we gave a comparative view of our railroad progress for 1872, as far as the returns then accessible allowed us to ascertain it. We have now rectified our estimates from the elaborate tables of the Railway Monitor, and for the sake of comparison we add from the same source the amount of the whole mileage in use in the year 1871, with the probable increase of new railroads, which may be expected to be built this year. These statistics are set forth in the subjoined table:

*Estimated number of miles to be bullt this year.

According to the opinion of the best authorities, these are the prospects for the coming year in regard to the building of new roads. The Western States are allotted by the estimates 3,580 miles of an aggregate of 8,510 miles. In 1872, those States had 3,743 miles out of an aggregate of 7,613 miles. And since 1861 the West has built 21,742 miles of new road out of an aggregate for the whole country of 38,892 miles. These facts show that the Western States have attracted their fair share of railroad capital. The following table, with a view more fully to illustrate this point, gives the railroad progress of the various sections of the United States in the period under review, from 1861 to 1872. For the sake of comparison, we append the aggre gate railroad extension in the chief grain-growing and grain consuming countries of Europe during the same term of years:

RAILROAD EXTENSION IN THE UNITED STATES AND IN EUROPE, $1861-72.

Although, therefore, the railroad unaguates of the great through routes to the West have just met to put up their rates of freight, and will adopt the higher schedule of charges they have agreed upon until the opening of navigation in the spring, the means by which the West can gain relief is not so much by canal extension as by the multiplication of railroad facilities; and these facilities are being rapidly augmented as the capital and credit and resources of the country can be made to supply the means.

CONSUMPTION OF COTTON IN GREAT BRITAIN.

In an article on the "Cotton Consumption and Supply, 1872-3," published in THE CHRONICLE of November 2, we said: "To the known stock in the ports, as above stated, there is supposed to be no 'invisible stock' this year to be added." This statement referred to the cotton review of October 1, 1872, for all Europe. The very light purchases by spinners for many weeks prior to October 1, especially in England, had led to the supposition that they had in that period exhausted their surplus stocks. This idea found expression in the October Circular of M. Ott. Trumpler, and of all the Liverpool authorities. It was accepted by general consent, not as proven statistically, but as probably true under the circumstances, and at the time in question we agreed with that opinion. Yet as to Great Britain (we omit any reference to the continent to-day) it was not correct, for her spinners, as a whole body, were far from having used up their reserves of cotton by October 1; and during the balance of the year, that is during the thirteen weeks from October 1 to December 31, the "Trade" took from Liverpool alone nearly 100,000 bales more than was required for consumption in that period at the average weekly rate of the year, under the influence of a fear that the supply would be insufficient. Hence, on the 31st of December, the surplus stock they held was considerably more than is usually admitted.

Some persons suppose there are no estimates, only ascertained actual quantities, etated in the annual reports of the English cotton trade. Yet estimates of great importance were unavoidable in the statistics of the last two years. The ascertained quantities are: 1. The stock of cotton in the ports at the beginning of the year; 2. The imports; these together constituting the visible supply. Then, 3. the exports; and 4, the stock in the ports at the end of the year. The two latter being deducted from the whole supply, the remainder is, of necessity, the quantity delivered for consumption. But delivery to consumers is not actual consumption; a portion remains with spinners as unconsumed stock. This quantity varies from year to year. Here estimate was employed, and here was a chance for error. According to the returns made to Parliament by Her Brittanic Majesty's Inspectors of Factories, the number of cotton spindles rucaing ("used") in the United Kingdom at the several dates following, were;

| ļ | 1850                      | 27,977,017   1861   | 30,430,467 |

| j | 1870 (at the end of the y | (ear)               | 32,050,000 |

The consumption of cotton in the kingdom for the same years was stated (in pounds):

| 1850629,900,000 | 1868993,488,560 |
|-----------------|-----------------|
| 1856891,400,000 | 1870            |
| 1861            |                 |

Previous to the American war cotton was considerably used for other than spinning purposes, for which, when cotton became dear, jute and other cheap materials were substituted in place of cotton. The entire consumption for all uses being stated, a reasonable allowance for other uses in the years anterior to the war, should be made when determining the quantity worked by spiudles only. For the first three years mentioned that allowance is computed.

The following table shows the number of spindles run ning, the total weight of cotton spun, and the pounds per spindle in each year named:

The number of spindles running in 1869, and since the return of 1870, are estimated, but from good data. Spinning was not profitable in 1868; there was some "short time," and a few mills were stopped. It was worse-very bad, indeed, for spinners, in 1869; therefore, that year is introduced here, though we have for it no inspector's return of spindles. There were no new mills erected or new spindles set up except in place of old ones, in either 1868 or 1869, and but few in 1870. In 1869, on the contrary, many spindles stood idle for a part or all of the year, and the average number thus running is estimated at 30 millions. To the inspector's number of spindles returned as for the end of 1870 1,700,000 are added to make the average number running in 1871 (the whole number added during 1871 being nearly 3,000,000) and the number for 1870 is deduced from the return.

There was a progressive increase in the quantity of cotton per spindle, except in years of depressed business, although there was simultaneously a progressive change, almost constant, towards lighter fabrics, requiring less cotton to the skein of yarn, and on the same adjustment of machinery, affording fewer skeins to the spindle. But improvement in machinery was incessant, and a gradually higher speed made it more effective; hence the preponderance of gain in the cotton used per spindle.

Yet never in any year since England first made fine cotton goods had the rate exceeded 33 pounds to the spindle until 1871. In that year a great increase in the demand for coarser fabrics, springing from causes well known to the trade, did for a time concur with low-priced cotton to increase the rate. Taking then the consumption of cotton in Great Britain for the last three years as above, we farrive at the fellowing conclusions—beginning at the end of 1869 with the stocks of cotton as then reported by the Liverpool Cotton Brokers' Association, and the spinners' stock as stated by Messrs. Ellison, Tibbitts & Co.:

-Equal to 333,400 bales of 400 pounds each, against 80.000 bales held by spinners December 31, 1869.

And invisible, or spioners' stock...

Because of the great variation in the average weight of bales from one year to another, it is indispensable to reduce all to pounds for accuracy of statement or for comparison. All the quantities above stated, except those of "consumption" and "spinners' stocks," are from the tables of the Liverpool Cotton Brokers' Association.

The annual circular of that Association for December 31, 1872, gives all the data for another form of statement which very nearly confirms the result obtained above. Messrs. Ellison, Tibbitts & Co.'s report for January, 1872, which conforms to the Brokers' Association report in statistics, but is much more comprehensive and explanatory, stated the spinners' stock at the end of 1871 at 200,000 bales, that being an increase of 100,000 bales on the stock (100,000) held December 31, 1870. Toward the close of 1872 it became apparent to and was admitted by all statistical writers on cotton and the trade generally that during 1871 English spinners had increased their supplies by 250,000 bales, instead of 100,000, as stated in the annual report, fully sustaining the theory of Ott-Trumpler in his circular of October, 1871. By adding that 150,000 to the admitted surplus of spinners December 31, 1871, their stock became 350,000 bales, chiefly of American cotton, while it made a corresponding reduction in the stated consumption of 1871 Starting, then, with only that correction in the figures of 1871, the propriety of which no one questions, and applying the actual quantities of import, export, consumption and stock in the ports December 31, 1872, as given in the annual circular of the Liverpool Cotton Brokers' Association under date of December 31, 1872, we have the following:

| Stock held by spinners January 1, 1872 | 350,000727,300     |
|----------------------------------------|------------------------|
| Imports during the year  Total supply  | 8,880,1404,957,440 |

| Leaving stock that must be held by spinuers as otherwise anaccounted for | 800,000                         | 103,109,970                                          |

In this result there is only one error apparent. Spinners' reserves, whether more or less, consist chiefly of American cotton. The spinners' stock should therefore average about 380 pounds per bale. As found in the above remainder it would average only about 344 pounds. A very slight miscalculation in the average of cotton consumed would produce that error in the smaller quantity held by spinners. Correcting the weight of the 300,000 bales to 385 pounds each, we have 114,060,000 pounds, a difference of 10,950,030 pounds; which being deducted from the stated weight of cotton consumed, we have as the actual consumption of 1872, 3,265,620 bales, or 1,170,600,000 pounds, which is exactly the same quantity given by the calculation upon spindles in our own table. In the Liverpool annual report for 1870 there was an over-statement of consumption, and corresponding understatement of spinners' stock, December 31, 1870. to the extent of about 53,000 bales. In our three year table the sum of the three years' errors is eliminated, and the spinners' stock December 31, 1872, was 333,400 bales, of 400 pounds each.

A little reflection will show to the most skeptical how reasonable is the belief that English spinners held over 330,000 bales of cotton on the 1st day of January, 1873. It is only an average of 86 bales (of 385 pounds each) to each 10,000 spindles, or only enough for five weeks' use on average production American spinners, as a body, would never venture to run with so short supply, except for a week or two between the old crop and the new one, and then only from necessity. Stock "in process" is not usually counted as stock in this country, when mills are kept full, and rarely run out except for general repair or reconstruction. But we are comparing the English spinners' stock with what they held at the end of 1869, at the close of three years, described by the best commercial and statistical writers as the most gloomy and profitless period of like duration ever known in Lancachire. Many mills had been closed (run out entirely); more bad been running on short time, and all were practising the closest economy in the use of raw cotton, down almost to the end of 1869. Prosperity returned with the advent of cheaper cotton, and a renewed and widely extended demand for cotton fabrics, in part the effect of the previous falling off in their production. Idle mills were started up, and all that were working were put on full time. It must have required at least 100,000 bales more for a working supply in the latter part of 1870 than was required a year before, even if all mills took their supply for consumption weekly. It is still required, and can no more be dispensed with than the machines that use it, until mills shall again be run out and stopped. It is always consuming, but never consumed. Deducting that 100,000 bales of furnishing cotton, the stock of spinners is only 232,000 bales, or scarcely a supply for three weeks of out-turn of goods and yarns.

It is not important, except as all statistical truth is important, to show that Euglish spinners held 100,000 or 200,000 bales of cotton more than published statistics gave them credit for. But it is highly important to know the true rate of English consumption of cotton during 1870, 1871, and 1872, and the quantity held by spinners at the end of each year is the key to the whole. That element, always estimated, was in successive years too hastily assumed. Its under-estimate of 50,000@75,000 bales in 1870, and 150,000 bales or more in 1871, forced a corresponding overstatement of the consumption, the effect of which is yet felt, and induces excessive estimates of the consumption of cotton in 1873.

RAILROAD EARNINGS IN JANUARY.

The month of January, 1873, was remarkably unfavorable for most of the western railroads, the snowstorms and un precedented severity of the weather stopped traffic almost entirely during part of the month, while on several roads peculiar circumstances and misfortunes were seriously injurious to the month's business. As a natural consequence of these influences an important falling off in earnings is observed compared with January, 1872, and the officers or some of the companies were quite reluctant to have their earnings published, observing very justly that these formed no criterion from which to form a correct judgment of the prospective business of the roads.

We have adverted above to the extraordinary storms and aevere cold which affected to a greater or less extent nearly all the Western roads, and will refer now to some of the peculiar disadvantages with which several of the roads had to contend. The Toledo, Wabash & Western road experienced the old difficulty of a blockade in freight at its eastern terminus, Toledo, as it seems to be impossible for the Lake Shore road at present to carry all the freight from that point east. This will be remedied by the double tracking of the Lake Shore road, the completion of the Canada Southern, and the extension of a branch from the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago to the city of Toledo. The Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw road was greatly embarrsssed by having a large number of its freight cars blocked up and detained by its eastern connections, a part of the trouble arising from the Toledo blockade, above noticed. The company however, is largely increasing its rolling stock, and will provide against such misfortunes in the future. Louis & Iron Mountain read lost a bridge from the effects of freshets, and had its traffic partially cut off till the damage could be repaired.

Erie shows an unimportant decrease. The directors of this road have declared a semi-annual dividend of  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent on the preferred, and a dividend out of the earning of the year 1872 of  $1\frac{3}{4}$  per cent on the common stock. The dividends were based on the following statement submitted by the President:

Over $4,000,000 expended for new work on the line during last year and for iron purchased are embraced in the item of working expenses in this report. No allowance is made for any part of the money or property recovered from Jay Gould.

The Central Pacific and the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern are most conspicuous for an important increase in earnings—the former from the continuous increase in its prosperity and also from its enlarged mileage, and the latter from the fact above noticed, that the company has more freight offered at this period of the year than it can easily carry. The extent of this eastward freight business has an important bearing upon the subject of the opening of the new trunk routes, the Chesaperke & Ohio road and the Chicago & Canada Southern.

The following statement is published of the freight business of the Union Pacific Railroad in 1871 and 1872:

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, February 1, 1873.

To the surprise of most persons, if not of everybody, the directors of the Bank of England reduced their minimum rate of discount on Thursday to 31 per cent. During the previous days of the week, owing to the heavy imperial taxes which were being paid, and which naturally diminished the supply of available capital, there was considerable firmness apparent, and very little accommodation was then obtainable under the then existing minimum of four per cent. The course pursued by the directors is by some condemned; but the state of the bank account cer tainly justifies it. The proportion of reserve to liabilities is no about 534 per cent., a point at which a still lower rate of discount would in ordinary times be current; but, as there is no doubt that some heavy demands will be made upon us, that is to say, that we shall place ourselves in the position by subscribing to foreign loans, or assisting in the matter of the French indemnity, of having demands made upon us, it is no doubt wise not to let the price of money fall too rapidly. The bank directors, how. ever, have very little choice in the matter. They do not create the supply of or demand for money, and the duty they have to perform is to adjust their terms to the state of the market. It is clear that the present state of their account does not admit of a higher rate than 31 per cent. Indeed, money has been lower, when the proportion of reserve to liabilities has been much less. One fact, however, is deserving of consideration. It will be noticed that the public deposits, or Treasury balance, is at the high figure of £10,315,799, being about £5,000,000 more than in previous years. The payment of the Imperial taxes was commenced on the 1st of January, and in spite of the numerous failures which have taken place, it has been more than usually rapid. The banks have therefore a large control of public money, but instead of taking advantage of their position, and giving tightness to the money market, they have studied the commercial interests of the country by releasing it in the shape of discount accommodation and advances on easy terms. Such judicious management must certainly commend itself to the mercantile interests, and give confidence in an institution which is sometimes abused.

The demand for money has been good, and appears to be of a healthy character. Annexed are the quotations:

There has been a good demand for gold for export, and the whole of our importations has been absorbed. The week's arrivals have been large, but out of the supply of £853,000 from Australia £330,000 in sovereigns has been sent into the bank. The demand has been principally for Spain, but partly for Germany. The German order is supposed to be for £1,000,000, and it is expected that the American supplies as they arrive will be purchased on that account. Silver and dollars are very firm, and the latter have improved in price. The following quotations are from the circular of Messrs, Pixley, Abell, Langley & Blake:

Foreign bills of exchange have been in demand, and the rates are less favorable to this country.

In the stock markets there has been some irregularity. The alleged difficulties or differences with Russia about the Central Asian boundary have been taken advantage of by the bears to facilitate their operations, but cheaper money has favored the bulls. The markets have, in fact, fluctuated considerably, and have, on some days, opened with much weakness, but closing with an equal degree of firmness. American Government stocks have been arm at advancing prices, and there has been more doing in United States railroad bonds on higher terms. The closing prices of consols and the principal American stocks are subjoined;

The public on both sides of the Atlantic will be glad to learn that the Atlantic Telegraph Companies contemplete a reduction of their tariff at an early date. It is stated that the growth of the traffic has been so rapid that the directors are convinced that any loss which may be sustained by such a step can be but temporary-The companies lately started for competing with those now exist ing seem to have been arranged with, and have applied to the share holders for power to divert the route. It is not yet known what reduction is proposed, but that there is room for a considerable change is only too clear.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company (Limited), held last week, it was resolved to recommend the declaration of a dividend of 4 per cent. and a bonus of 2 per cent., both free of income tax, at the annual general meeting, to be held on Friday, the 14th day of February making, with the three interim dividends of 2 per cent. each' already paid, 12 per cent. per annum. The warrants to be pay' able on and after the 15th February. The amount added to the Renowal Fund is £100,000, leaving a balance of £16,000 to be carried forward to the next account.

A meeting of the creditors of Mesars, Pawson & Co., whose suspension was announced on the 4th of January, was held on Mon. day, and it is satisfactory to know that the failure was caused not by bad trading or by the unsoundness of our trade, but by the withdrawal of a large amount of capital by a late partner. The meeting was very largely attended, and the statement presented to the creditors showed liabilities, £369,886 11s. 10d.; assets. £391,747; snrplus, £21,860 14s. Under these circumstances, and considering that a late partner had taken £216,000 out of the business, the larger proportion of which has been paid to him ln 12 years, a desire was shown to preserve a business, which, it conducted with adequate capital, was obviously of a valuable character. A committee, therefore, of the largest creditors was appointed without any opposition to inquire into the merits of the business, and suggest a plan of reconstruction, or in other words, its conversion into a limited joint stock company. The result of the meeting has had a good effect, as a failure of this kind might take place in periods of unexampled prosperity.

Winter has come at last, but not with any severity. After three or four months of southerly and southwesterly winds, the wind has settled in the eastward, and there is a possibility of its remaining there. The cold easterly winds which prevail in this country are exceedingly trying, and largely increase the mortality; but it was certainly necessary that vegetation should be kept in check, and that we should have a long period of dry weather after the late heavy fall of rain. Having now entered the month of February, frosts sufficiently severe to check agricultural work are not anticipated. Already is the steam plow at work making up for lost time, and should the weather remain dry, the farmers will no doubt sow a large quantity of Spring wheat. The wheat trade has not been characterized by any important feature, but so far as good and fine qualities are con? cerned, late prices are fully supported.

The following statement shows the imports and exports of cereal produce into and from the United Kingdom since harvest. viz., from September 1 to the close of last week, compared with the corresponding periods in the three previous years:

The prospectus of the United States Govornment Five per Cent Loan for $300,000,000, or £60,000,000 sterling, was issued yesterday afternoon, completing the amount of $500,000,000, authorized by Congress. Messrs. Baring Brothers, Messrs. Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., Messrs. J. S. Morgan & Co., Messrs. Morton Rose & Co., and Messrs. Rothschild & Sons are authorized to re. ceive subscriptions at the offices of the last-named firm. Subscriptions will be received either in cash or in Five-twenty Bonds, and the proceeds will be applied to extinguishing the existing Six per Cent. debt. The application must be accompanied by a deposit, either in cash of £20 for every $1,000 applied for, or in bonds convertible under the operation, approximating to 10 per cent on that amount. The lists will be opened in the United States, in London, and in the principal cities of the Continent on Tuesday next, and they will be closed not later than Friday next. Interest is payable quarterly, and will, if required, be forwarded direct to the holders from Washington; but the checks or coupons will have to be sold in the market at the exchange of the day, as in the case of the Five-twenty Bonds and the existing issue of Funded Five per Cents. The loan will be free from all taxation.

The return of public income and expenditure is of a favorable character, the total receipts into the Exchequer being more, and outgoings less, than in the previous financial year. Parliament will now meet in the course of a few days, and as there are expectation of a surplus, the Budget which will be presented at about Easter, will be looked forward to with more than ordinary Interest. There are some who are anticipating reduced taxation; but it has to be borne in mind that the Alabama award has to be paid, and this is likely to absorb the whole of the available surplus. The following is the return and embraces a period from April 1 to January 18:

The New York Life is one of the great corporations whose growth and prosperity have been the occasion of astonishment to all who have observed the course of life insurance in this country. Its officers justly stand among the most distinguished menin the business, on account of the great energy and ability with which the company has been managed. We commend the detailed statement to the examination of our readers.

Attention is called to the notice of Messrs. Drexet, Morgan & Co., in our advertising columns in regard to their new building on the corner of Wall and Broad streets. Offices in this building will be ready for use by May 1, and considering the location, the conveniences offered for business purposes, and the whole character of the enterprise, under the direction of the prominent banking firm above named, they cannot fail to command the attention of every person who seeks an office in that most popular locality.

-The attention of the readers of THE CHRONICLE is called to the advertisement in another column of this paper of Georgo K. Sistare, of No. 24 Nassau street, by which he offers for sale a choice selection of city stocks. Mr. Sistare states that he recently disposed of $700,000 of N. Y. City 7s in one week.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

BANKING OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, 5 NASSAU STREET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14, 1873.

The CHESAPEAKE and OHIO, the CENTRAL PACIFIC and WESTERN PACIFIC BONDS, all of which have been negotiated by us, we believe to be among the best and most desirable Invest ment Securities in the market, which in time must become very scarce; especially as the Government will probablypay off, in gold, $300,000,000 more FIVE-TWENTIES during the year, and a large amount of money thus released from investment must find its way into this class of securities.

The CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS, the total amount of which is only $15,000,000, are secured upon a property worth $35,000,000 to $40,000,000, and are fully equal in intrinsic value to the CENTRAL PACIFIC BONDS. They are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000, coupon or registered, and at their present market price, 87 and accrued interest, are very desirable.

The CENTRAL PACIFIC SIX PER CENT, GOLD BONDS are too well known to require description or commendation Their total amount is $25,885,000; they have for a long time ranged in market price near or above par. Their market price to day is 1048@1048.

The WESTERN PACIFIC SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS amount to $2,735,000. This road is now consolidated with the CENTRAL PACIFIC, and the payment of its bonds, principal and interest, is assumed by the latter. As they have recently been introduced on the Stock Exchange, we expect to see them rapidly rise to the price of CENTRAL PACIFICS, being substantially the same in character and value. Coupon Bonds, $1,000 each. Their market price to-day is 94 to 94;

We buy and sell, as usual, Government Bonds, receive deposits, on which we allow interest, make collections, and conduct a general banking business in all its branches.

FRIDAY EVENING, Feb. 14, 1873.

The Money Market, ... Money during the past week worked even more closely than before, and loans to stock borworked even more closely than before, and loans to stock borrowers have been quoted every day, from 7 gold up to 1-64, 1-32 or \(\frac{1}{3}\) commission, either with or without gold or currency interest. The large Government dealers have been accome dated in most cases at 7 per cent. There have been some temporary exceptions to the high rates after close of bank hours, but nothing which indicated any essential difference in the tone of the market from what is above stated. To day the rates for money in the morning were 7 per cent gold to 1-32 per day, and at the close of bank hours 1-32 was bid.

It is currently reported that a part of the stringency in money arises from artificial influence upon the market, as such influence can easily be excited at the present time, on account of the low condition of the bank reserves and the impossibility of further expansion.

Among the natural causes which have led to the present condition of tight money, may be mentioned the sale last millions of gold against small bond purchases, and the shipment of some considerable amounts of currency to the West.

of some considerable amounts of currency to the West.

The extreme rates for money are limited to call loans, and for commercial paper there is a fair demand, at 839 per cent. for prime names. This is about \(\frac{1}{2}\) per cent. higher than we last quoted, as it is quite natural the sharp rates for money on call, and the possibility of a closer market hereafter, than has generally been anticipated, should exert a certain influence in this direction. this direction.

Foreign advices are still favorable as to a quiet easy market in London, though the bank shows a decrease of £355,000 in bullion. the discount rate remaining unchanged at 31 per cent. Specie in the Bank of France has decreased 250,000 francs.

The last statement of our New York city banks (February 8), showed a decrease of $1,058,775 in the excess of reserves. The total liabilities stood at $247,819,800, the total reserve at $64,143,100, being $2,188,150 more than 25 per cent of the liabilities.

The following statement shows the changes from previous week and a comparison with 1872 and 1871:

United States Bonds .- Government securities have hardly been as active as last week, on account of the uncertainty in regard to the result of the Syndicate negotiations. Various rumors have been afloat as to the amount of bonds subscribed for, rumors have been afloat as to the amount of bonds subscribed for, but no authoritative information has been given; it is generally believed that as much as $100,000,000 was subscribed. A tele gram from Washington, in the Post of this afternoon, gives the latest information from that quarter, as follows:

"In conversation to day, Secretary Bontwell said that he had no official information in regard to the operations of the Syndicate, but he believed it was their intention to withdraw their subscription of February 6th to one hundred millions five per cent, funding loan bonds, and renew it so that it would bear the date of March I. This is made necessary by the fact that the Syndicate will be called upon by the Treasury Department, unless the date of the subscription is changed, to take the bonds on or about the 5th day of May, ninety days from February 6th, which is twenty days before the subscription obtained by the Syndicate for the bonds are made payable. They would, in that case, have to raise the sum of one hundred millions of dellars, Inasmuch as the Secretary has not issued a call withdrawing one hundred millions of the Syndicate subscription to March I, so that the ninety days allowed by law will correspond with the date when subscribers agree to take the bonds from the Syndicate subscription to March I, so that the ninety days allowed by law will correspond with the date when subscribers agree to take the bonds from the Syndicate on Wednesday the offerings

At the Treasury purchase on Wednesday the offerings amounted to $4,046,000, and the whole amount of $1,000,000 was

State and Railroad Bonds.—Southern State bends have been dealt in to a limited extent, the Tennessees being lower at times than last week, in consequence of the decision we then referred to. This decision, we understand, was to the effect that the bank must receive its "new issues" in payment of debts due to itself, and the inference is drawn that they would have to be received in payment of debts to the State, or for taxes. The case will probably be carried to the highest courts before it is settled.

Railroad bonds have continued active, and the demand from in-Railroad bonds have continued active, and the demand from investors for all classes of sound bonds seems to be remarkably good. The financial agents report an increased business in new loans and the sales of old bonds, both these on the Stock Board list and those dealt in by brokers at private sale have been numerous and of considerable amounts. As 4e the Pacific Railroad bonds, Centrals are strong at 104@104\frac{1}{2}$. Union Pacifics are semewhat depressed by the possibility of unfavorable legislation, though the first mortgages and the land grants are generally considered to have abundant security, whatever action may be considered to have abundant security, whatever action may be taken in Congress against the company.

It is said that holders of the Union Pacific income bonds will be required to present to the Treasurer the bonds as well as the compons, when the next interest falls due on the 1st of March. This course is deemed necessary because of the counterfeits which have been in circulation since last September.

*This is the price bid, no sale was made at the Board. Railrond and Miscellanoous Stocks._ The stock market has been quite active at times on a few of the leading speculative stocks, but upon the whole prices have been weak, and close generally lower than when we last wrote. The new stringency deerally lower than when we last wrote. The new stringency developed in money has been unfavorable to the market, although many suppose that the present tightness will be quite temporary. The weight of interest among leading operators, at the present moment, is said to be in favor of a decline in order to ferm a basis for higher prices afterward; it is hardly necessary to remark, however, that such reports as to the intended movement of cliques are half the time incorrect. The dividends on Eric common and preferred stock have created a decided sensation, though the effect was apparently discounted as prices are since lower the effect was apparently discounted, as prices are since lower. We notice the dividends and the report submitted by the President, more fully in our article on earnings.

The Western Union Telegraph has purchased a controlling interest in the Cuba cable line—known as the International Ocean Telegraph. Ceal stocks have been active and higher, under the prospect of better prices for coal. At the close the market was firm and quiet.

The Gold Market .- Gold has fluctuated at intervals according to the manipulations of the clique, and closed strong this afternoon at 114½. The operations for higher prices have been favored by the absence of any positive information about the success of the Syndicate with the new loan. On Thursday there was some apparent weakness in the price, and reports that the clique had disagreed among themselves, but other opinions considered it only a movement to encourage short sales. On loans the rates have fluctuated considerably, and to-day the rates paid for carrying were 2, 1, 3, 4, 5, 6 1-32, 7 gold, and 7 per cent. Time leans of gold have been quoted as follows: 30 days, \(\frac{1}{2}\)@3-16 for carrying; 60 days, \(\frac{1}{3}\) for carrying; 90 days to 4 months, flat; 6 months, \(\frac{1}{4}\)@\(\frac{3}{2}\) for use; all the year, \(\frac{1}{2}\)@2 per cent. for use. At the Treasury sale of \(\frac{5}{1}\),500,000 on Thursday the total bids amounted to \(\frac{5}{2}\),134,000. Customs receipts for the week were

The following table will show the course of the gold premium

Foreign Exchange.—The exchange market has been dull and depressed. The offering of considerable amounts of 60 days borrowed bills has been the principal cause for lower prices, while a good supply of cotton exchange has also tended to the same end. Lack of information about the Syndicate has also tended to check business quotations.

The following are the quotations:

Georgia Finances.—ATLANTA, GA., February 9.—A bill which passed the Honse appropriates $275,000, with interest on the same, to pay Russell Sage for money loaned by him to the State of Georgia, and for which bonds are held by him as collateral to of Georgia, and for which bonds are held by him as collateral to be returned on payment of, the money; also appropriates $600,000 to pay the interest on the State debt.

ATLANTA, February 10.—Governor Smith sent a special message to-day to the Legislature to the effect that $2,567,435 must be provided during the current year to meet bonds falling due, and to pay the interest on the public debt. Among the debts to meet are Russell Sage's claim of $375,000; to pa; the interest of $557,000 on gold quarterly bonds to Jannary 1, 1874; to pay bonds falling due this year and in Jannary, 1874; and to pay the interest on the public debt. The message was referred to a joint Finance Committee. Committee.

ATLANTA, February 12.—The Joint Finance Committee of the Legislature, in consultation with the Governor, has agreed to report in favor of raising $1,200,000 by levying a direct tax on the people. This, in addition to the $1,200,000 eight per cent. bonds which Mr. Nutting thinks can be negotiated here in Georgia, together with other available resources, is deemed ample to meet the present necessities and obligations of the state.

East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railroad.-

(Returns for the Fiscal Year Ended June 30, 1872.)

During the last past fiscal year the company purchased from the State of Tennessee the Rogersville & Jefferson Railroad, about 16 miles in length, for $15,548 98, and also the Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap & Charleston Railroad, for which they paid the sum of $214,175 53. Of the latter about 39 miles are completed. Both connect with the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railroad, and are now operated by the officers of that road, but as yet their business is separately stated.

The Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap & Charleston Railroad forms the Tennessee section of the system projected in North and South Carolina to connect the seaboard of those States with the Great West; and for the purpose of completing the system, the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Company have more recently contracted for the purchase of the Western North Carolina Railroad, which extends from Cumberland Gap to Salisbury, N. C., and at that point connects with existing roads extending in all directions to the coast. The Western North Carolina Railroad is completed from Salisbury west to Old Fort 114 miles, and considerable work done on the section from Old Fort to Ashville, 16 miles.

The President remarks:

"It is believed that the assets, when converted, will pay in full the outstanding bills payable, the 32,300 old Rutland and Burlington bonds, the dividend scrip, including that issued for the dividend due Feb. 1, 1873, and every known liability of the corporation. No claim has ever been made for over 9,000 of the old Rutland and Burlington bonds outstanding, and it is believed that they have nearly all been lost or destroyed. Negotiations are pending with the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, with a probability of their early conclusion, for a transfer and sale of that part of the property leased to the Vermont Central managers upon the west side of Lake Champlain, vizithe Montreal and Plattsburg and Whitehall and Plattsburg Railroads, including its northern and southern divisions; also, the property of the Burlington Steamboat Company.

the Vermont Central managers upon the west side of Lake Champlain, vizthe Montreal and Plattsburg and Whitehall and Plattsburg Railroads, including its porthern and southern divisions; also, the property of the Burlington Steamboat Company.

It becomes necessary that the stockholders should take action at this meeting in regard to this negotiation, and the papers relating thereto will therefore be laid before you. The $1,500,000 new first mortgage bonds, issued under date of November 1, 1872, payable in thirty years, have been offered to stockholders and the public, and have resulted thus far in a sale of $701,000 at par and accrued interest. This result may be considered favorable, under all the existing circumstances. For these bonds we have now subscriptions for an additional amount of $300,000. On, leaving $500,000 to be sold. The dividend scrip outstanding, including dividend No. 11, due the 1st prox., will absorb $240,000, leaving only about $260,000. If some action could be had which would result in selling the remaining bonds, the income under the lease can be applied to the payment of eash dividends on the preferred stock, which would doubtless be quite satisfactory. Dividends Nos. 9 and 10 on the preferred stock have been paid in scrip. There is now on hand scrip due for dividends that have not been receipted, amounting to $16,824 55. This sum is due fifty-tbree stockholders for dividends number vine and one bundred and ten, for number ten. The aggregate number of preferred stockholders is 893. The lessees furnish a statement of the gross earnings of your road for the year ending November 1, 1872, sta total of $898,544 25. The gross earnings before the lease went into effect, for the year ending November 1, 1870, were a total of $900,749 35, showing a gain in earn.ngs of $79,734 90. The rent payable under the lease for the current year is a total of $424,500, being forty-three per cent of the gross earnings for the same period."

Union Pacific.—The following from the testimony of Mr. B. F. Ham, Secretary of the Credit Mobilier and Auditor of the Union Pacific Company in New York, is of interest: Profits on the Ames contract, $29,854,960; on the Davis contract, $7,802,135, and on the Hoxie contract, $1,168,232; total profit to the contractors of the entire road, $42,825,327, in stock and securities at their par value; Mr. John A. Rice paid into the Union Pacific Railroad Company in cash, $6,368,034, the proceeds of bonds and stock sold. They received on account of the contract, $3,777,000 first mortgage bonds, amounting to $3,399,300; $4,400,000 certificates of first-mortgage bonds, afterward turned into income bonds, amounting to $4,425,000; $5,841,000 income bonds, amounting to $4,425,000; $5,841,000 income bonds at par, the balance being $2,346,195 in cash. The whole cost of the road to the company appeared to be by the books $114,033,728, the actual cost to build was $71,208,399.

Mr. Ham continued—The trustees under the Ames 22. Davis contracts were compelled to sell securities received by Aem at so large a discount that the actual amount divided on both contracts Union Pacific.—The following from the testimony of Mr. B.

large a discount that the actual amount divided on both contracts at its cash value I should consider worth not more than $9,000,000.

Mr. Wilson—What securities do you refer to?
Mr. Ham—First-mortgage bonds, land-grant bonds, income bonds and stock.

Mr. Wilson—What did the trustees purchase the land grants at ?

Mr. Ham—They bought them at 55, and sold them with other securities, the first-mortgage honds being offered at 85; $1,000 in land grants, $1,000 in first mortgages and $5,000 stock were sold together for $2,000; another sale was of $1,000 in land grants and $2,000 in stock for $800; the bonds were placed at 60 cents and the stock at 10 cents.

New York & Oswego Midland.—The report of this company to the State Engineer of New York, for the year ending September 30, 1872, shows that at the date of the report 213 miles of the main road was completed, and the company also had branches amounting in all to 121 miles completed, making in all 334 miles of road then operated. The road has been operated so far under a disadvantage, the two ends being separated by an unfinished scction in Delaware County. The earnings for the year were: from passengers, $78,980.97; freight, $600,826.36; other sources, $91,983.70; total, $974,791.03. The operating expenses were: for repairs of road and buildings, $232,220.69; repairs of rolling stock, $144,290.40; office and station expenses, fuel, wages, etc., $417,260.67; total, $823,771.76, or 84½ per cent. of the receipts, leaving the net earnings, $151,019.27. For interest, $506,151.52 was paid, making the total payments other than for construction $1,329,923.28. During the year $5,696,700.48 was expended in construction, and $1,431,911.35 for equipment, making the whole cost of road and equipment to the date of report $18,496,368.31. The capital stock authorized is $10,000,000, of which $5,872,549.32 was paid in up to date. The whole amount of funded debt was $12,500,993.57, and of floating debt $474,283.94. The track on the southern end of the road has been extended (Feb., 1873) from Liberty Falls, N. Y., northwest to Morston, in Sullivan County, about 12 miles. On this section there is a bridge over a branch of the Mongaup near Liberty Falls nearly 1,000 feet long and 100 feet above the water and a trestle work near Fallsburgh tunnel over 60 feet high.—Railroad Gazette.

New Jersey Central and Delaware, Lackawauna & Western.

ew Jersey Central and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western. -The Vice-Chancellor of New Jersey, in the case of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company against the Central Railroad of New Jersey, enjoined the Central from taking up the third rail on their road, or in any manner interfering with the use of their broad gauge track in connection with the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad; and also ordered the Central to continue to transport the coal of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western in broad gauge cars as heretotore.

It is stated, however, that the order referred to was assented to by the counsel of the Central that an appeal might be taken promptly to the highest court, where it will be heard within a month, and embrace a final decision on the question whether the agreement is valid.

Erie Railway.—The new loan placed on the London market was successful. This loan consists of \$10,000,000, in thirty year 7 per cent. gold bonds, convertible for ten years, and has been taken at par, less  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. commission, netting the company  $97\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. It is said to have all been taken by the Union Bank of London, the London Banking Association, and Messrs. Bischoffsheim & Goldschmidt. Greenville & Columbia Railroad.—In the matter of the petition of Messrs. Daniel E. Scannell and Charles Maden, of New York, against the Greenville and Columbia Railroad of South Carolina, being a petition for a review of the decision of District Judge Bryan, of South Carolina, declaring said railroad company not a bankrupt, Judge Bond, United States Circuit Court, sitting not a bankrupt, Judge Bond, United States Circuit Court, sitting in Chambers, has decided not to review the decision of the court below, but to allow the order of Judge Bryan to remain unchanged. The application of the petitioners arose out of the failure of the company to pay its coupons, they being holders of bonds and coupons of the company to the amount of about eight hundred thousand dollars. The legal questions involved were: First, is a railroad company liable to bankruptcy? second, are the coupons of a railroad company commercial paper? and third, is the decision of a District Judge to be reviewed by petition or by writ of error. writ of error.

Indianapolis Cincinnati & Lafayette.—A Cincinnati paper says: "The Indianapolis, Cincinnati & Lafayette Railroad Company is regarded now as practically free from financial embarrassment. During the two years that Mr. Ingalls has held the receivership, the entire indebtedness of the road (excepting the regular bonded debt), amounting to over $2,000,000, has been paid, in addition to all current expenses, improvements, &c. The road has also in good running order forty per cent. more cars and thirty per cent. more locomotives than ever before. The management will now take the necessary steps to relieve the road from bankruptcy, and turn it over to the stockholders, which it is confidently expected will be accomplished by the first of May. The stockholders will then regularly elect a new Board of Directors, who will choose executive officers. To keep free from pecuniary embarrassment hereafter the road must only save enough to pay the interest on its bonded indebtedness outside of the current expenses. That it can easily do better than this, under proper manpenses. That it can easily do better than this, under proper management, is demonstrated by the last two years' experience. In the new management Mr. Ingalls will probably be chosen

The Western Union Telegraph Company.—At a meeting held June 2d, 1871, the President of the Company, Mr. Orton, was authorized to negotiate with the International Company for the purchase of so much of their stock as he might deem for the best interest, of the Western Union. Negotiations were at once commenced by Mr. Orton and have heen carried on at intervals ever since, with the result that a contract was made a short time ago virtue of which the Western Union agreed to take 9,251 shares of the preferred and common stock of the International Company's stock. Mr. Orton, acting by and with the advice of Messrs. Horace F. Clarke and Augustus Schell, ratified this contract, and to complete the purchase sold 15,000 shares of Western Union. These shares were held by the company, having been bought from time to time with surplus funds for the purpose of being used in purchasing, as occasion might offer, desirable telegraph property. purchasing, as occasion might offer, desirable telegraph property. At the meeting on Saturday, February 8, Mr. Orton's course in making the purchase was unanimously approved, and the sale of the Western Union stock was appreved with but one dissenting voice. It is understood that English parties were negotiating for a controlling interest in the International Company, and would probably have secured it had Mr. Orton been less prompt.—Daily Bulletin.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, Feb. 14, 1873.

An additional fall of snow has caused a renewal of the obstacles to trade which have been produced by previous accumulations in our streets, and the anticipated revival of business has not been realized. We do not observe any great changes in prices except the decline in cotton (for full details of which, as well as for information respecting breadstuffs and groceries, we refer the reader to special reports in succeeding pages.) The great trunk railways appear to be meeting the demands upon them with greater facility; at least, fower complaints are heard on that score, and as a winter of great severity approaches its close, there is a more cheerful feeling apparent in mercantile circles.

Provisions have ruled firmer for some descriptions. Pork has advanced, and a good business in new mess has been done at $14 50 on the spot, and for February and March, and $14 50@ 14 55 for April. Old mess has sold in a jobbing way at $13 75 Bacon has been in active demand, and long clear has sold at 7@7 1-16c. for early delivery, short clear at 7%c, and long and short clear together, for March, at 7gc. Lard has been lower and fairly active; prime Western steam has sold at 8 3-16 on the spot and for February, 8 5-16 for March, 8 7-16@84 for April, 88 for May, and 84 for June. Cut meats have met with a good demand, and dry salted (which have been scarce on the spot, are higher: long cut hams of 20 lb. average have sold at 11 lc., short cut of 18 lbs. at 9 c.; dry salted shoulders have brought 5 3-16c. for February, and 51 for March. Beef hams have been wanted, and mess beef has had a fair sale, with no material change in prices. Butter has been in fair demand, but unexpectedly large receipts of Canadian have caused some anxiety to realize. Cheese has been moderately active and firmer at 16@17c, for prime to choice factories. To-day box meats were firmer, long clear sides 7 1-16@7tc; short do. 7f on spot, and 7fc. for April; dry salted shoulders 51c. for February; do. short cut hams, 10c. on spot; pickled hams 91@11c. Lard closed with buyers of prime Western steam at 81c. for February, 88c. for March, and 8 9-16c.

Freights have remained quiet, at least so far as relates to engagements with vessels on the berth; but with very little room offering, and vessels still very scarce for charter (even tor arrival), rates have ruled strong, with an upward tendency. Recent engagements include wheat at 7½d., cotton at 5·16@§d., flour at 3s., and bacon 50s., to Liverpool, and lard by sail at 30s. To Cork for orders, 8s. has been paid for grain. Petroleum charters have been more numerous, but mainly of vessels to arrive, including hence to Bilboa at 8s., to the Mediterranean at 7s. 6d. To-day, Liverpool steamers took wheat at 7½d., and bacon at 45s., the latter a decline of 5s.

Tallow has been firm and more active at 8½@9c. for prime. Cloverseed has been in better supply, and has declined to 9½@9½c. Whiskey has further declined to 92½c. In strained rosin there has been more activity, 7,000 bbls, having been sold on Wednesday at $3 70, closing firmer at $3 75@$3 80. Spirits turpentine has been dull and drooping, closing at 67½@68c. Petroleum has met with rather more inquiry, though still quiet, and prices unchanged—refined in bbls., 20@20½c. (with 2,000 bbls. sold to-day at the lower figure), and in cases, 27@28c.; crude in bulk, 9c., and napths, 14@15c. in shipping order. Linsced oil has advanced to 97c. in casks, and there has been more inquiry for lard oil at 70@72c. for prime winter. Fish have been less active, but prices have ruled steady. Fruits dull. Stearine sold freely early in the week ruled steady. Fruits dnil. Stearing both Acts.

At 8½@8½c. for prime in hlids, and tes.

Wool has met with an improved inquiry, and late sales embrace 65,000 lbs. domestic fleece at 57@67c., 20,000 lbs. Montevideo at 40c., and 200 bales Cape at 36c., showing a slight decline in prices. Hides are firm, with a reduced stock; dry Buenas Ayres, 27½@28c. gold. Manila hemp sold at 10½c. gold, Calcutta linseed held at $2 65 gold. Ingot copper has been more active, closing at 34½@35½c. for American, on spot and future. Straits tin lus also been active, closing firmer at 32c. gold, and in tin plates the demand has been brisk, including charcoal tin, part to arrive, at $10 50 gold. Iron has been quiet.

Tobacco has been moderately active considering the state of supplies in market. Sales of Kentacky for week have been about Tobaccco has been moderately active considering the state of supplies in market. Sales of Kentucky for week have been about 400 hhd, nearly equally divided between shipners and the home trade; and mostly old crop at 84c @ 9c lugs, and 7½c @ 15c; new crop nominal In seed leat there has been more activity, as follows: Crop of 1871—200 cases Connecticut, 50c @ 60c.; 400 do. Massachusetts, 30@32c; 200 do. Pennsylvania, on private terms, and 400 do. Wisconsin at 9½c @ 10c; also 200 bales sundry lots; crop of 1870, at 9c @ 14c. Spanish tobacco in rather more demand and the sales embrace 500 bales Havana at 95c @ $1 10c

The market the past week has been quite irregular. Up to the close of Wednesday the downward movement was constant, but differing in extent according to grade, ordinary and good ordinary, for instance, showing a decline of \(\frac{1}{2}\)c., while middling and low middling declined only \(\frac{1}{2}\)c., and good middling \(\frac{1}{2}\)c. This difference is said to be due to the fact that the crop is below average in quality, and that the stock of low grades is largely accountation. The lowest point, however, was reached on Wednesday. lating. The lowest point, however, was reached on Wednesday. Thursday the market was more steady, but comparatively quiet. To-day there was a recovery of \( \frac{1}{2}c. \), though the demand was mainly for such cotton as could be delivered on contracts, low grades being depressed, with some forced sales \( \frac{1}{2}c. \) below quotations. For future delivery the course of prices has been very similar, a decline of \( \frac{1}{2}c9.16c. \) up to the close of Wednesday, and a recovery since, prices being at one time to-day \( \frac{3}{2}c. \) chigher than Wednesday, though a portion of this advance was subsequently lost. The prices for futures last reported were (basis low middling) \( 20\frac{1}{2}c. \) for February, \( 20\frac{1}{2}c. \) for March, \( 20 \) 13-16c. for April, \( 21\frac{1}{2}c. \) for May, \( 21 \) 9-16c for June, and \( 21\frac{1}{2}c. \) for July. The total sales for this description for the week are 102,650 bales, including 1,000 iree on board. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 6,487 bales, including 1,098 for export, 5,059 for consumption, 199 for speculation, and none in transit. WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—At New Orleans there have been two days showery the past week. Our correspondents at Selma report two heavy rain storms. There has been rain on one day at Montgomery, Mobile, Columbus and Macon. At Savannah and Charleston it rained the early part of the week, but since then it has been pleasant. Our Augusta telegram states weather fine. At Memphis it has rained on two days: the rivers are all open new, and planters are marketing their crop freely, It has also rained two days at Nashville, but it is pleasant now, the weather apparently settled. Thermometer at Memphis has averaged 42: Selma, 58; Montgomery, 54; Columbus, 56; Macon, 48; Savannah, 56, and Charleston, 46.

The Crop.—On the 9th of November (Chronicle, Nov. 9, psge 616) we published a statement which we believed would prove to be a minimum estimate of this crop of cotton—that is to say, an estimate which the total crop marketed would, in no event, fall below, but very likely exceed. In making up our figures from our correspondents letters, we stated that we "had not taken the highest estimates, but in most cases the lowest." The totals we then gave were as follows:

Total crop marketed.....3,610,000 2,974,351 4,352,317

During the past three weeks we have again been corresponding with our friends in the South to learn what the balance now remaining on hand is, and what was likely to reach the market during the remainder of the season. This information received from each section enables us to revise the above figures. In doing so we have been very careful not, in any case, to overstate the result, so that a somewhat larger total than we give is not by any means impossible. The changes we make in our previous figures are as follows: Mobile we give now at 312,000 bales, an increase of 7,000 bales from our former statement; Charleston 350,000 bales, an increase of 35,000 bales; Texas 340,000 bales, an increase of 30,000 bales. As to the overland movement wellieve not as yet been able to obtain exact returns, but are of the opinion that up to the present time the movement has been in excess of a year ago; still the direct receipts at New Yor's, Boston and Phila lelphia have thus far been less than last season, and consequently we make no change in either total, leaving the increase in one case to balance the loss in the other. With these explanations and alterations our present estimate would stand as follows:

Total crop marketed.. 3,732,000 2,974,351 4,352,317 Since the completion of the Houston and Texas Central Railroad almost to the Red River, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas to the same point, new avenues for cotton have been opened, and old ones may therefore loose some of their business. Hence it is possible that New Orleans and Galveston receipts will in the end be found to vary from the totals given above. Still the cotton is there, and whether it takes its old route to New Orleans or a new one to Galveston, or still another north by the way of St. Louis, is a matter of no importance, so far as the general result is concerned. The crop, therefore, will not, we believe, be in any event less than 3,732,000 bales.

CONSUMPTION OF COTTON IN GREAT BRITAIN.—We would call the attention of our readers to an article on this subject in our editorial columns to-day.

IMPORT, STOCK AND CONSUMPTION OF COTTON IN EUROPE.—We take the following figures from the annual circular of Messrs, Stolterfoht, Sons & Co., Liverpoel, showing the import, stock and consumption of cotton in Europe, for the years ending December 31, 1871 and 1872, expressed in 1,000s of bales. See Chronicle February 10, 1872, page 190, for previous report.

Of the exports, those marked (*) were to France, Holland, Belgium, Trieste, Genoa and Spain, and are comprised in the imports to those places; and those marked (4) were to the Baltic, &c. The imports into Genoa comprise those into Leghorn and Naples as well. The following statement gives the general import, atock and consumption of cotton reduced to bales of the uniform weight of 400 lbs.:

From the foregoing it would appear that compared with last year there is a decrease this year in the week's shipments to Great Britain of 21,000 bales, and that the total movement since Jan. 1 shows a decrease in shipments of 97,000 bales over the corresponding period of 1872.

Our despatch to-night says that crop accounts at Bembay are unfavorable; the cause of this is not stated, but we presume it is the result of unseasonable rains.

GUNNY BAGS, BAGGING, &c.—The market for bagging has ruled quiet and steady at about the last quotations. Dealers are getting 13@13½c. for small orders from the South. We quote price for immediate delivery at 12½c. cash; March to April delivery from second hands can be bought at 13½c/13½c. C. O. D. Manufacturers are asking a little higher price. There has been a sale reported of about 3,000 rolls, part of which was at 12c. cash for immediate delivery, and 14c. cash for future delivery. The Beston Shipping List expresses surprise that this article has not attracted more attention of late, because prices are and have been for some time past considerably under the cost of manufacture. With jute butts at present current rates, bagging, it claims, cannot be manufactured under 14c. per yard, and this makes very little allowance for depreciation of machinery, salaries, &c., which must always be a consideration in well-conducted and successful mills. At the West but two bagging mills are running, the balance having either stopped or failed, and the manufacture of bagging at the West may be considered as about at an end, because flax, the raw material used, cannot be sold sufficiently low to compete with butts. The butts now in use by most of our bagging manufacturers were contracted for at a cost of 2½c. per lb., and if bagging costs 14c. per yard on a basis of 2½c. per lb. for butts, it is very casy to calculate the losses on bagging when not over 12@12½c. per yard can be obtained for prompt delivery.

bagging manufacturers were contracted for at a cost of 24@3c. per lb., and if bagging costs 14c. per yard on a basis of 2½c. per lb. for butts, it is very easy to calculate the losses on bagging when not over 12@12½c. per yard can be obtained for prompt delivery.

Bags are quiet and unchanged; holders are still firm at 15c. cash. There are some inquiries in the market, but we hear of no sales beyond 50 bales at 15c. cash. Butts are steady and firmer. Non-arrivals have strengthened the market, and prices are now 2 3-16@2½ cash and time. One or two parcels might be had for 2½c. cash, but these are exceptions. The sales for the past week are 1,500 bales at 2½c. 60 days; 500 bales to arrive at Boston at 2½c. cash; 750 bales at 2½c, cash; 200 bales at 9½c. cash.

The above totals show that the interior stocks have increased during the week 4,006 bales, and are to-night 985 bales more than at the same period last year. The receipts have been 7,257 bales more than the same week last year.

The exports of cotton this week from New York show an increase since last week, the total reaching 19,866 bales, against 4,421 bales last week. Below we give our table showing the exports of cotton from New York, and their direction for each of the last four weeks; also the total exports and direction since September 1, 1872; and in the last column the total for the same period of the previous year:

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY P. M., Feb. 14, 1873.

The market has been generally quiet during the past week, with no considerable change in prices.

Flour has ruled dull, and the medium grades have continued to show a downward tendency. The better qualities of the lower grades have been taken moderately for the British Provinces, but for the English markets the demand has been quite at a stand still. The receipts have further increased, and the accumulations on the wharves have been a source of embarrassment to receivers. Still the range of prices has varied but little, as the jobbing trade has paid pretty full prices for some of the better styles of shipping extras. The flours most depressed have been those ranging from $8 to $9 50 per bbl. To-day the market was dull, with good lines of shipping extras offered at $7 50.

Wheat has been exceedingly dull, scarcely enough being done to indicate prices; neither shippers nor millers have been disposed to purchase, and their wants have been mainly supplied by receipts by rail. Holders, however, in view of the reduced stocks, and the certainty that at least three months must clapse before any considerable supplies can be gotten forward, have remained very firm. But speculation is held in check by the liberal receipts at the Western markets, and the rapid accumulation of stocks in that quarter. It will be seen from the statistics below that the receipts of wheat at the six principal Western markets, have, since the first of January, been nearly twice as arge as those of the corresponding period last year. To-day no sales of moment were reported, and quotations were nominal.

Indian corn hus been in only moderate demand, whether for export or home use, and prices have varied but little. On Tuesday an Eastern demand carried up prices a half cent, prime old mixed selling at 64%c. in store, but the price receded the next day to 64c. New corn continues to arrive spuringly. Two cargoes of good new Delaware yellow sold at 65½c. afloat, and prime new Western mixed has been selling steadily at 651@66c. To-day holders generally refused 64c, for prime old in store, and there was a fuir export demand.

Rye and barley have remained quiet, buyers and sellers being apart in their views, and prices consequently somewhat unsettled. Oats have been in better demand, and prices show an advance of 101c. per bushel. Receipts by rail are small, and stocks in store have been rapidly reduced, old No. 2 Chicago advancing to 54c, in store and 56c, affeat. To-day the market was dull.

GROCERIES.

PRIDAY EVENING, Feb. 14, 1878.

There has been an improved call for nearly all lines of groceries since our last report, and the prospects are more favorable for the spring trade, though the sales thus far are not so liberal as are usual at this time of the year. There has been a considerable excitement in the market for coffee during the last few days, and jobbers are asking advanced rates. There has also been a rise in prices on cargo lots of the lower grades. Sugars are steadler, with no quotable changes except on refined grades, which are higher. Tea continues steady, with a fair trade. Fruits are dull, but continue to rule steady. Spices are strong, with a better movement.

There has been a pretty free movement in teas toward the close of the week and there is more steadiness in the market than was manifested at the onening, when, after a period of a few days of quiet, the market showed signs of slight depression. The call during the current week has run chiefly an Oolongs and large sales of these descriptions have been closed. The medium grades seem to be most sought after, and are relatively firmer than the lower qualities. The business in Japans has been fairly scrive and there has been a moderate call for Greens, though these qualities have been slower toward the close. The prices rolling on teas are not altogether satisfactory as yet, but with the improved call there is likely to be a hardening in prices. All sorts of Blacks are in fair request and continue to rule steady in most lines. since our last have been 7,500 half chests Japans, 17,500 Oolongs, 5,000 Greens, and 700 Senchones.

Importa the past week have included 693,821 lbs Black, per "Anglo Saxon," from Amoy; 1,000,103 do. do., per "Gninevere," from Foochow, 500,798 do. Japan, per "Emulation," from Yokohama; 613,175 do. do., per "Polly Lewis," from same port; 789 lbs. Black, 748,762 do. Green, and 25,806 do. Japan, per "Mikado," from Shanghai.

CORPEE.

The market has been strong on the Brazil grades throughout the current week, with fairly liberal operations from first and second hands. The purchases of jobbers for the past two weeks have been light, and the sales into consumption during that period have reduced the supplies in second hands to an unusually small amount. With a continued demand for distribution, jobbers have shown more resdiness to purchase during the past week, and their operations have been sufficient to materially reduce the airesdy light stock held by importers. The stock of ordinary and fair cargoes is slmost entirely exhausted, and the balance is held at fully %c. shove last quotations. Good and prime cargoes are very firm, with sales indicating a slight improvement, though the stocks of these grades are still ample to meet the call. The latest telegrams from Rio were very favorable for our markets, and the present firmness is fully justified by these advices as well as by the actual scarcity of coffee on the Atlantic coast. There is, however, an evident feeling of can ablaness among some of the leading operators here, and it would appear that the reports from Rio relative to the shortness of the crop were not fully credit cd. as the firm feelings of the most confident operators are based chiefly a conthese reports. There has been a fair inquiry for the India grades, with stocks well reduced and prices fully maintained. The sales since our last report have been 3.470 bags Rio per "Glance," and 260 per "Asteria;" 3,506 per "Ericksen;" 3,600 per "Sjogasten;" 2,265 per "Iona," all here; 2,500 per "Lapwing;" 4,050 per "Winifred;" and 3,000 per "Echo," at Baltimore; 1 820 bags Ceylon and other India lots to the trade.

There have been no imports at New York the past week

At the beginning of the current week the market for raw angars was quiet, and the tendency was rather in favor of the buyers. The refiners began to purchase more freely early in the week, and the demand has continued fair until the close, reducing the stock considerably, and giving a good degree of firmness to prices. The offerings are smple, and holders are ready sellers at the previous quotations, and show much firmness at the close at an eighth reduction on Cubas. The operations during the week have been mainly in centrifugals, though latterly there have been fair operations in Cuba hads., principally of the lower qualities. Some small lots of Demerara and Porto Rico have also been taken out, and the market has shown a steady tone on all grades on a basis of 8%@8%c, for fair to good refining. There has

The sales of centrifugale have included a large proportion of new crep sugars, which are held at an advance. The market for refined sugar has been very firm, and toward the close some speculative feeling has been developed in hards. The market opened at 11½6,11½c, for all grades, but the growing scarcity of crushed has resulted in an advance to 12½c, at the close, with almost nothing offering. Powdered is in rather light supply, and is quoted at about 13½c. Granulated is quiet, and with free offerings cannot be quoted over 12c. The sales since our last report have included 2,332 hids. Cuba, 8½6 9½c.; 2,350 do. centrifugal, 9½69½c.; 524 clarified Demersra, 10½c.; 1,014 Batavia baskets, 9½c.; 3,125 bags brown Bahia, on private terms.

Since our last report the stock of molasses in this market has been augmented by the strivals of new crop Cubs, and the offerings of stock suitable for holler's selections are more liberal. Still there are but one or two refinerles that are consuming anything like their usual amount of molasses, and but few refiners have shown a disposition to operate with any degree of freedom. Nothing really has been sold, but there has been a moderate inquiry from one or two parties, and some light transactions are under way. There is a fair stock of Cuba molasses now in the market, but no grocery qualities are included, and the, somewhat diminished call for trade qualities is supplied chiefly from the stock of Potro Rico and domestic grades. Some English Islands clock is selling, but the movement is not liberal. Domestic continues to sell fairly in trade lots, but with heavy receipts the stock has increased to 9,000 bbls. This accumulation has weakened prices a trife, and lots that ware placed last weak at 77c, would be difficult to move now at more than 75c. The trade in syrups continues fair, and the lower grades of engar clock as well as sugar-house grades remain very scarce. Other grades rule atong, and are in limited anpply. Sales of 543 hhds, and 53 tes, new Muscovado for boiling, on private terms; 500 bbls. New Orleans in lots, and 75 hhds. Porto Rico.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., Feb. 14, 1873

The weather has not been propitious for as much improvement in the trade as dealers had confidently anticipated for this week, but there has been a moderate increase in the demand for all classes of goods, and the week closes with a somewhat encouraged feeling among dealers. The deficiency in the sales as compared with the corresponding period of 1872 and previous years, is due in no small measure to the entire absence at present of all speculative operations. The legitimate sales at this period in previous years were probably but little in excess of the current movement, but this fact seems to be lost sight of by dealers, who are some what dissatisfied over the result of the season's business thus far As the weather moderates in the interior, buyers from the West and Northwest especially, and also those from less remote sections, are appearing in the market in greater numbers, and their presence naturally inspires dealers with the hope that sales are about to increase, although as yet few have operated heyond laying in moderate supplies of staples. The most encouraging feature of the market at present is the unusually low condition of the general stocks. It is reliably reported that dealers in the interior hold far less than their average supplies, and from this it is expected that their Spring purchases will be very liberal The supplies here, both in first and second hands, are unusually light, and prices are very hard, especially on lines of domestic cottons, which with a few weeks of activity would go materially higher. The woolen interest is less favorably situated, but this branch will come out satisfactorily if the trade but improve, so that current rates may be sustained.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The leading features of the marke for cotton fabrics are the scarcity of all prominent makes of brown goods and the extreme buoyancy that prevails, notwithstanding the backwardness of trade. The sales of the leading descriptions of cottons have been very satisfactory, and brown goods especially show a marked improvement. Standard weigh and fine browns are chiefly in request and these grades are ver closely sold up both in first and second hands, the more popula marks being, in many instances, sold ahead of the production Prices have been strongly maintained, but are without importan alteration. Bleached goods have sold with more freedom durin the past week, and at the close stocks of the most popular mark are reported to be somewhat reduced. The sales are now fully equal to the production, and with the light supplies held back by agents, the prospects are that stocks will run out during the rush of spring business. Colored cotton fabrics are very firm, and continue to be pretty well sold up for this period of the year, though the current operations are not on a very liberal scale. There have been no essential features to note in connection with any of these lines in the absence of any change in quotable values. Prints have improved to a considerable extent, and at the close are fairly active. Nearly all of the mills are showing liberal assortments of medium and light effects, the latter being mainly in shirting stripes. Chocolate colorings are popular again and are offered by several of the leading mills. Prices remain unchanged, but are strong and rather tend upward. There has been a fair call for ginghams and we note also an improved traffic in lawns, percales and other light fabrics, which are selling freely to the Southern trade at very full rates.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The trade in woolens has not been fully up to expectations, and the market rules quiet, with the prospects, perhaps, a little more favorable for an early improvement in the distributive, movement. Fine grades of fancy cassimeres are in better request, and bring fairly satisfactory prices, but the market is depressed by the heavy stocks of the poorer grades now in the hands of agents, and for which there is little or no call. Cloths are selling fairly for this stage of the aeason, with prices steady. There is a good inquiry for worsted dress fabrics, and prices are strong and very satisfactory. Other lines of Spring woolene are quiet, with no notable features.

Foreign Goods.—There has been very little improvement in the demand for imported fabrics, and the market remains quiet. Jobbers are doing a little more business in general lines, but their stocks have not become sufficiently reduced as yet to necessitate important purchases on their part for the reassortment of offerings. The auction houses have opened, but the sales thus far have not been very liberal nor well assorted. There are no notable changes in values, prices remaining steady at the opening quotations.

THE RAILWAY MONITOR.

The first number of the RAILWAY MONITOR (monthly) was published January 15, 1873.

The characteristic feature of the Moniton consists in its furnishing the most complete reports and freshest intelligence concerning every railroad in the country, so classified and indexed that each item of information can slways be referred to with the utmost convenience.

A Handsome File Cover or Binder for current numbers, is furnished gratis to every new subscriber for one year.

A Standing Index is continued from number to number, so that all railroad matters published within the year can be referred to by the last number issued.

The Monitor is in no respects intended to take the place of the Railroad Department of the Chronicle, but is expressly intended to supply a want long felt by the readers of that department, in giving numerous reports and details of railroad information, which could never be given in the limited space allowed in the columns of the latter.

THE CLIQUE SPASM RELAXING.

The report of the Poland Committee on the Credit Mobilier has been received with no small dissatisfaction, and adds to the growing conviction that Congress is neither resolved nor likely to probe to the bottom a scandal so delicate, unprecedented and dangerous. The Pacific Mail investigation has produced more influence on Wall street, and has had, as is alleged, some indirect part in breaking up the clique combination which has lately been so active in making the loan market artificially tight.

To-day being Washington's birthday, and a legal holiday, the weekly bank statement was made up yester-afternoon, and shows a heavy decline in all the items except the circulation, which has increased $33,300. The deposits have fallen $8,714,700, which has caused a decline in the loans of The specie reserve has consequently been $4,650,600. reduced $1,414,100, and the legal tenders $1,317,100. The aggregate reserve has thus fallen half a million further below the legal minimum. Last week the deficiency was $1,209,000. It is now $1,859,775. Such an exhibit as this might well be looked for after the close money market which we have had this week. What is surprising Is however the sudden change which began last evening. In the early part of the day money was lending at high rates as usual. But towards the close an imperious desire to lend began to be visible, and one firm is said to have lent over 11 millions. The result was a weakening of rates, which went down to 5 per cent and even lower.

The explanations offered for this striking movement are various. Some bank officers ascribe it solely to the holiday and to the deaire to get three days' interest. Others think that the recent spasm has been purely artificial, and has been the result of manipulation on the part of two opposing cliques, who have now settled their quarrel, and have neither of them any further need to employ tight money as the engine of their speculative warfare. Another opinion is that the return of money from the country has been putting the banks in a much better condition than they seem, and that as their depleted reserves have been due to the locking up of greenbacks, so the pressure being now taken off the bank statement next week will be made up on rising averages, and that we shall have a more tranquil money market in consequence.

In opposition to this inference it is affirmed that the amount of foreign exchange which is lending in the street on stocks reaches a vast sum-estimated as high as 20 to 40 millions of dollars-and that so long as this large sum of foreign capital is present in that shape, an element of derangement and monetary uneasiness will always be liable to keep up the rates of interest.

The money market is unquestionably in a very sensitive condition, and its course in the immediate future may well give some anxiety, especially to mercantile borrowers, who have for some days been obliged to pay more for accommodation than during the earlier weeks of this year. Men of limited means cannot be too cautious in times like these. Still, there is certainly a better feeling in monetary circles than prevailed a week ago. And as to the high rates which have been paid of late for loans, the matter is not so bad as Well-informed persons well know that, although money has been regularly quoted at 1-16, or 1-32 per day, still no large aggregate has been actually lent 'on any given day at such rates. After special inquiries we are of opinion that the amount of such usurious loans taken altogether do not reach 10 millions, and mostly do not exceed half that sum. The great mass of the transactions are done at legal rates, and several of the houses which stand the highest and lend the most never break their rule of accepting no more than 7 per cent or 7 gold at furthest. With regard to the loans of foreign exchange the whole of such business is done at 60 days, and the contracts are seldom renewable above once except by special arrangement. Hence changes and renewals are continually occurring, as the various loans mature. And from such circumstances an exaggerated notion gets abroad as to the amount of such floating obligations, which probably have not reached so large an aggregate as 20 millions for some time past and are now perhaps less than they were.

On the whole the aspects of the money market are decidedly brighter, though the horizon is by no means so free as might be wiched from warnings of danger. One favorable circumstance is the late reduction of the Bank of England rate. A part of our recent trouble has been due to the fear that the rate would be raised in London. If that should not be done, and the excess of idle capital seeking employment below the bank rate renders it somewhat improbable, we shall have the more reason to look hopefully forward to the immediate future of our own monetary position.

HOW TO REFORM THE CURRENCY.

The unprecedented stringency in the money market, which has lasted without much abatement for nearly five months, has been favorable to the suppression of the resumption schemes which, at this season, have been, for several years past, in the habit of soliciting the attention of Congress, and of the public press. Easy money is an almost indispensable condition to give such projects a hold on the public mind, and a disturbed loan market is often fatal to them. It is to be observed, however, that in unquiet times the best reforms are more likely to get a patient hearing, and on this principle we account for the welcome accorded to the plans recently proposed by Mr. J. T. Ropes, the President of the Boston Board of Trade.

To lay a broad foundation for reform he lays down the great principle, which is obviously sound, that the first step to cure the defects of our currency is to explore those defects so as to understand where they lie, what they are and how they may be reached. As to the defects in our currency, Mr. Ropes has very elaborately expounded his views, which may be briefly summed up in the single phrase—excessive issues. In answer to the question, what is the matter with the currency? he replies that too much has been issued. There are too many greenbacks afloat and too many bank-notes. It is here, and here only, that he finds the germ of the mischief which it is his desire to root out trol the issue of bank notes. As to these points the following are the practical measures which he recommends:

Having thus laid down his disgnosis like a skilful physician, Mr. Ropes tells us his remedy, which is twofold. First he proposes to call in greenbacks, and secondly, to con.

I. We propose, then, first of all that the Government should take immediate steps to call in the existing legal tender notes, and replace them by an equal amount of new legal tender notes, all payable in gold coin, but only in amounts of $5,000,000 monthly, beginning with January I, 1875. Each monthly installment of notes might be offered for sale to the highest bidder so long as they would command a premium. After that the notes might be paid out at par in exchange for old legal tenders as fast as they should be called for, and of course none of the old legal tenders should be reissued by the Treasury. It is not improbable that within three months $50,000,000, or even $100,000,000, might be thus exchanged, and by the end of the year perhaps $100,000,000 more. Beyond this any further issue would be unimportant, for it is probable that before $200,000,000 could be paid off at the rate of $60,000,000 per annum, all legal tenders would be at par with specie, and their exchange would be a mere matter of form.

with specie, and their exchange would be a mere matter of form. II. Let the Government, then, at once establish, at the SubTreasury at New York, a central bureau of redemption for the notes of all National banks throughout the country. Let the notes thus redeemed be daily assorted, and the banks notified as often as may be necessary to redeem them in lawful money, say within 30 days. If not promptly redeemed, and we may be sure that many of them will not be, let the Treasury sell, from month to month, a sufficient number of the bonds pledged for their redemption, make good the deficiency, and cancel the notes. In this way those banks which have an excessive circulation compared with their capital will have it properly curtailed without trouble, loss or injury of any kind; while these banks which are able to maintain the full amount of their existing circulation will have every possible facility for doing so; and above all, the public who hold and use these notes will be assured, not only of their ultimate security, but of their immediate convertibility at the great centres of trade.

At first sight these suggestions might seem to savor of inflation and new issues of currency. But as a merchant of wide experience, and a tried friend of the cause of currency reform, Mr. Ropes cannot for a moment be suspected of any design to inflate the currency by indirect means while pretending to reduce it. Such schemes, looking one way and rowing another, have often been projected and are no strangers in Congress. Even Mr. Sherman's bill, lately killed, was objected to on this ground, that while seeming to aim at specie payments, its real tendency would be the other way.

Moreover, Mr. Ropes's plan has the merit of not bein; wholly new. Mr. Chase, we believe, and his successor, Mr. McCulloch, used to urge some such scheme for issuing gold notes and withdrawing greenbacks to make room for them. What Mr. Ropes proposes really consists in this. He would call in five millions a month of greenbacks, and he would issue in their stead five millions of gold notes. These gold notes, by the act of March 3, 1863, can be issued to the amount of all the coin and bullion in the Treasury, and for 20 per cent beyond. For further issues there is no law, and they would be at variance with sound policy. To adopt this plan, therefore, would require a heavy deposit of gold in the Treasury as its first condition, besides other preparatives on which we will not further dwell.

Passing to the second point—the erecting at the Sub-Treasury a machine for the redemption of bank notes. This also is not new. It is the opinion of some of our best authorities here that if the National Banks are ever to be compelled to redeem their notes in New York, the only method of practically enforcing redemption would be by a Government bureau in the Sub-Treasury-Some are inclined to prefer that the redemption should be in a separate office, and not in the Sub-Treasury, which establishment is already burdened with work and responsibility to the full limit of human endurance. Of course the redemption should be done at the expense of the banks, which might be assessed about $\frac{1}{8}$ per cent a year on their outstanding circulation, so that the redemption bureau would be self-sustaining.

We would also suggest to Mr. Repes to add to his plan the repeal of such legal-tender powers as are conferred on the National Bank notes under section 23 of the Currency law. It is probable that so long as these notes enjoy a forced circulation, by being a legal tender in every part of the United States, all attempts to impart elasticity to their volume by redemption will be baffled. The section to which we have referred enacts that these bank notes "shall be received at par in all parts of the United States in payment of taxes, excises, public lands, and all other dues to the United States, except for duties on imports; and also for all salaries and other debts and demands owing by the United States to individuals, corporations and associations in the United States, except interest on the public debt and in redemption of the national currency." this provision has served every good purpose it was adapted for, and that it can now with safety be given up is freely admitted. Its repeal is an indispensable preliminary to getting that control over the volume of the national bank circulation, which must form part of any rational scheme for the resumption of specie payments. With these and some other modifications, Mr. Ropes' method of redemption would be more practical, and, in any case, it has the merit of being founded on a valid theory and on a sound basis of facts. As a contraction scheme it comes very appropriately from the city, which, in the midst of the smoke and ashes and desolation of the most terrific calamity that ever befel it, refused so recently to join the cry for more greenbacks.

THE DISTRIBUTION OF OUR POPULATION AND THE CENSUS REPORT.

The British Government have issued their population statistics for the census of 1871. As soon as we can find space we shall give a review of the figures as well as of those of the late French census. First of all, however, we must offer some further account, in addition to that given some time ago, of our own census for 1870. The three volumes of this official report are being got ready for distribution as fast as the work can be done in the Government printing office at Washington, and the first volume, on popu lation, has just been completed. The second volume will be devoted to vital statistics, and the third to the material growth of the country, comprising tables, charts and maps, showing the chief facts relative to our municipal and national wealth, to our taxes, debts and public burdens, to our agri cultural, manufacturing and mining products.

In regard to the volume on population we have no hesitation in saying that it is one of the most valuable contributions to statistics which have appeared in this country. The great march of our population over this continent, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, offers some of the most curious and suggestive problems which political economy and practical statesmanship have ever been called to master. The records of history turnish no previous example of a homogeneous people subduing the vast wastes of a fertile territory, receiving in o its bosom such a multitude of nationalities, of varied race, origin, speech and customs, but still keeping up its own unity and distinctive characteristics, and developing with unparalleled activity its own national life and peaceful industry, and productive growth.

It is a fundamental principle of economics that, other things being equal, any nation grows rich and productively strong in proportion not merely to the number of its inhabitants, but to the organization of their industry, the improvement of which depends much on the density of the population. Mr. Francis Walker's report gives full recognition to this principle, and is indeed little else than an elaborate compila tion of facts for its illustration. The most densely inhabited, and therefore the most opulent part of this country, as is well known, lies on the eastern seaboard, comprising an inrunning through this State to Philadelphia, taking in a part of Pennsylvania as far as Reading. Over all this richlydeveloped belt of country the population is over 125 to the square mile. The organization of industry is stimulated by the presence of the commercial, manufacturing and financial centres, which are included in this belt, and, like the great nervous centres of organic life, tend to give to labor and capital a higher degree of activity and creative force.

In a lower scale as to wealth and population we must place that rapidly-growing belt of country embracing the greater part of the Northern States east of Plinois, with some parts of the Southern States. Lower still in the scale are the sparsely-settled regions in the South and West, and last of all come the almost uninhabited regions from the Western line of settlement in Kansas, Nebraska, and Texas to the Pacific Ocean. It is with a view to these general facts as to the distribution of our people that Mr. Walker has constructed the maps to which we have re ferred. They are eleven in number. One of these shows the relative density of the population all over the country, another the distribution of the colored people, a third that of the general foreign population, while others show the German and Irish elements, and others again the English and Welsh, the Swedish and Norwegian, the Chinese and British American. To these maps are udded others, showing the education and wealth of the several sections and the progressive steps by which our national territory was extended from the purchase of Louisiana in 1803 to that of Alaska in 1868. The various stages of development are indicated by gradations of color and shading, which are lucidly explained and offer to the eye at a glauce the needful facts conspicuously displayed. We trust that the Superintendent of the Census will be permitted to have such a full use of the resources and printing facilities of the department, after the adjournment of Congress, that the whole of this important report will be forthcoming at an early day. The delay is, however, due in part to the preparation of the elaborate maps which form so important and nevel a feature of the work.

We shall have occasion hereafter to refer in more detail to these maps of Mr. Walker's. We have only space at present to indicate generally their nature and use. The most interesting of the series, next to those we have described, treat separately each foreign nationalitythe German, Scandinavian, and Irish, the English and Welsh, the Canadian, and the Chinese. The economic importance of this foreign population depends not only on the arts and skill and capital they bring us, but also in no small degree on their numbers. Of the 38½ millions of our population in 1870 5½ millions were of foreign birth, while 9,734,845 persons have both parents foreign, 10,521,233 have a foreign father, and 10,105,627 a foreign mother. In the various maps devoted to each nationality its tendency is indicated to distribute itself in certain localities, while in one general map the whole foreign population is massed together the aggregate density being indicated by four different grades of color, the lightest showing sections where there are fewer than two foreigners to the square mile and the darkest where there are more than twenty. Among the general deductions from these maps one is that the foreigners remain in the North almost exclusively, the South being blank except for a few small and isolated spots in West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and few other It will also be remarked that the foreign States. population groups itself the most densely in the conmercial, mining and manufacturing centres of the East following the chief lines of railroad through the Middle States, and spreading itself throughout the peopled region regular belt crossing Massachusetts and Rhode Island and of the West, with a marked preference for the vicinity of great rivers and lakes. It does not settle in the mountain districts or on soils of small fertility, and prefers a forest to a prairie. Thus the heavily timbered regions of Michigan and Wisconsin have a larger population than the prairies of Indiana and Illinois. How far this rapid growth of the lumber regions of the Northwest is due to the repeal of the Reciprocity Treaty and the consequent duty on Canadian timber, has often been the subject of warm discussion. The subsequent volumes of the Census will enable us to compare the growth of various branches of our productive power, and the products of agricultural, mining and industrial enterprise with the density of our population, the spread of education, and the general progress of wealth, as indicated in the volume before us.

CONSUMPTION OF COTTON IN EUROPE-THE CONTINENT.

We gave last week our views with regard to the coneumption of cotton in Great Britain, and now continue the subject by presenting the facts as to the continental consumption.

The quantities of "imports during the year" and "stocks in ports" at the beginning and end of year, as used in the following statements, are taken from the annual reports of the standard authorities at Liverpool. The "stocks held by spinners" at the close of 1871 is stated in conformity with the circular of M. Ott-Trumpler of October, 1871, which was subsequently confirmed, and that at the end of 1872 is taken on the Liverpool authority as "100,000 bales less than at the end of 1871."

These statements are for the calendar year to conform to the English annual tables. M. Ott-Trumpler's annual tables are computed for the year from October 1, conforming to our crop season. While imports and stocks would show some difference between October 1 and January 1, because of the intermediate movement of cotton, the consumption for a year prior to either date would be substantially the same as for the other.

In each quantity given in our statements the weight is carefully computed upon the number of bales of each country's growth, thereby securing a correct average of all.

(It should be understood that the "stock held by spinners" is meant to include only the surplus or increase of their stock above that held prior to 1871, in which year the low prices and good profits invited a large addition to the stock usually carried in previous years.)

With these explanations we give below our statement of the consumption of the continent for 1871 and 1872:

From the tables of Messrs. Ellison & Co., of Liverpool, we take the following "Deliveries for consumption" in all Europe in 1871 and 1872, applying thereto the deduction of surplus added to Spinners' stocks in 1871 and the addition from the surplus in 1872:

| Deliverlea for Consumption, 1871                                                     | Bales.5,569,000 | Lbs.2,114,800,000 |

| Actual Concumption                                                                   | 5,563,000           | 1,990,850,000         |
| Aggregate for both years10                                                           | 0,687,000           | 3,912,660,000         |

From the tables of Messrs. Stolterfoht, Sons & Co. we find that the total deliveries for consumption in the two years for all Europe were 10,369,000 bales, which, at the average weights—386 lbs in 1871, and 364 lbs in 1872—would be 3,890,608,000 lbs.; while they state the consumption to have been (in aggregate) equal to 9,684,000 bales of 400 lbs. average weights, which would be 3,873,600,000 lbs. Again, referring to the circular of Ott-Trümpler for October, 1872, we find his statement of the deliveries of cotton in all Europe, including Spain, Russia, etc., for the two years ending September 30:

|               | Bales.     | Los.          |
|---------------|------------|---------------|
| 1870-1        | 5.476.000  | 2,114,000,000 |
| 1871-2        |            | 1,783,000,000 |
| In both years | 10,457,000 | 3,897,000,000 |

All these authorities concur in stating the actual consumption of all Europe in the two years named at smaller figures than our own. Our own, then, cannot be too small. The consumption, at its maximum, being established, the imports being a known quantity, the visible stocks at the beginning of 1871, and at the end of 1872, being undisputed; all these elements of calculation being determined, they fix with moral certainty the one other element; the quantity of cotton held by spinners, December 31, 1872, in its minimum, and just so much as we have overstated the consumption, should our figures of stock on hand be enlarged.

In THE CHRONICLE of February 15 we gave the figures of stock in Great Britain, December 31, 1872. They were:

So far we have been dealing with statistical facts, past and present, such as will not be disputed by any statistician at home or abroad. If only facts have been employed, and none pertinent to the question has been omitted, and all have been placed in their true relation—which conditions will be readily estimated by accurate statisticians—the result must be the essence of facts—truth.

The result reached is important in guiding judgment upon the requirement of the future by comparison with the past, subject to the modifications of good or bad trade, high or low prices, an increase or diminution in the size of yarn produced and the fineness or coarseness of fabrics, etc. But a point of higher present importance is the determination of the actual supply of cotton with which Europe begins the year, in actual possession,

In a very short time the rapid falling off in weekly receipts, as from this date occurred last year; or the alternative, the sustained receipts moderately large up to the middle of March, as was the case two years ago, will give a pretty clear indication to all minds of the extent of this erop. By the middle of March the movement of cotton into the Indian ports and the export thence, will concur with the result of the picking season in India, to tell us more than we now know of the probable outturn of the crop there.

With these further lights it will be possible to make an approximate statement of the probable supply of cotton to the world for 1873. The data already given suffice to show the maximum of consumption. We propose soon to give to the readers of THE CHRONICLE such an exhibit, together with an analysis of the past consumption, showing the relative uses of each country's growth of cotton, and the power of price in the substitution of other growths for American.

HOW A BROKER CAN SELL OUT A CLIENT WHOSE MARGIN IS EXHAUSTED .- A decision was rendered by Judge Monell, of the Superior Court, on Wednesday, the 18th Instant, in the case of Angelina G. Wicks, vs. W. T. Hatch & Son, which is of much Interest to Wall street, as it affirms the validity of a contract to sell without notice or delay. It seems that the plaintiff charged the defendants with fraudulently converting to their own use, September 28, 1869, certain stocks which they sold on that day, and claimed as damages $48,750, upon an estimate based upon the highest market price of said stocks since that date. The defendants, in their defence, put in, first, a power of attorney, duly executed by the plaintiff in favor of her husband, George A. Wicks, who actually conducted the entire business with W. T. Hatch & Son, the plaintiff never appearing, authorizing him to buy and sell for her account, stocks, bonds and gold. They further put in an instrument in writing, executed by the said attorney, authorizing W. T. Hatch & Son to sell whenever the margin of the account should fall below five per cent. Sept. 28, 1869, the contingency arose; the defendants sold out about $400,000 worth of securities, and immediately reported the same. Judge Monell ruled that the authority given by the power of attorney and authority to sell were valid, and charged the jury if they found from the evidence that the defendants had in any manner waived their right to sell under the agreement, or committed any fraud in the time or manner of sale, to bring in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for amount claimed, $48,750 But if, on the other hand, they found no evidence of walver or fraud, then to bring in judgment for the defendants for the balance of their account against the plaintiff, $1,821. Under these Instructions of the Court the jury found for the defendant.

American Railroad Bonds in Germany.-The German market has long been relied upon for capital to carry on our great national and corporate enterprises. It has been estimated that not less than five hundred millions of the national debt are held in Germany-chiefly in the Five Twenties-beside a large aggrein Germany—chieny in the Five-Twenties—beside a large aggregate of municipal and corporate obligations. So rich a resource for borrowing capital was aure to be tried with American bonds of various sorts, and the natural consequence was that some loans insufficient propagity or personal credit bases. of various sorts, and the institut consequence was that some loans were made upon insufficient property or personal credit bases. Apropos to this point we copy from the Frankfurter Zeitung of the 28th January, a leading journal of finance and politics in Germany and on the Continent, the following remarks, and all the more readily because they make honorable mention of one of our leading New York hanking houses who have here instrumental leading New York banking houses, who have been instrumental leading New York banking houses, who have been instrumental in placing a very large amount of our best railroad securities in the European markets; and who have recognized their duty toward those who have taken these securities on their recommendation by furnishing reports from time to time of the condition of the operations and properties of the companies whose loans they have reguliated. have negotiated ;

[Translation from the Frankfurter Zeitung.]

[Translation from the Frankfurter Zeitung.]

Holders of American ascaritics will read with interest the very complete report upon the condition and operation of the Central Pacific Rullroad and its branches. This report shows that the mortgage bonds of the Central Pacific Rullroad and its branches (the Ceitifernia & Oregon & Sao Joaquin Valley) rank among the best American securities dealt in be Germany. The Bavarian Chamber of Commerce, in speaking of soreign securities, made no mistake, therefore, in according these a prominent place among American mortgage bonds.

Messrs, Fisk & Hatch fulfil their duty toward the German bondholders, informed concerning securities negistated through them. This conduct on the part of one house is the more striking as the great majority of backing houses which have introduced American loans in Germany have altogether neglected this duty toward those who have purchased their honds. When these latter houses first brought out their loans, they sought to entist capitalists by all kinds of promising prospectuses. When the bonds were placed, however, most of them did not care to trouble themselves with any reports on the condition of their enterprises.

None can blame the public for making comparisons between the practice of the different bonase who offer loans in our market; nor for glying their preference and confidence to those who keep them most fully and accurately informed theroupou.

(From our own correspondent.)

LONDON, Saturday, February 8, 1873.

There has been considerable excitement this week in coase quence of the rapid advance la the price of coal, the quotation for the best house descriptions being 50s. per ton, or 22s. per ton above the normal point. The coal owners and coal dealers are of course greatly abused for this state of things; but fairly considered there appears to be no sound resson for biaming them. Since the advance in the colliers' wages, and still more so since the strike of 60,000 men in South Wales, the output of coal has been very greatly diminished. For many weeks past the buyers of coal for domestic purposes have been purchasing from hand to mouth, in the hope that the strike in South Wales would either collapse, or be satisfactorily terminated, and that one result would be that coal would become cheaper. Those who have reasoned thus-and there have been many, in fact, very many-have been greatly disappointed. The strike contlanes, and shows no indication of terminating, the only consolation being that we are one week nearer the end of it than we were a week since. It follows, therefore, that the stocks in London are unprecedentedly small, for not only have the coal merchants small supplies in their yards, but those in the consumers' cellars are also very light. On Sunday last winter set in somewhat in earnest. There was a rather heavy fall of snow, and on Monday the coal merchants received so many orders that they advanced their prices eight shillings per ton. It must be borne in mind, however, that this great advance upon a price already considered exorbitant is of an exceptional character. It may, indeed, be maintained for some weeks, if the weather continues its wintry aspect, but as a matter of course it will tend greatly to diminish the consumption, a course which can be easily adopted in a country proverbially extravagant in its consumption of coal.

The strike in South Wales is commencing to assume a serious aspect. At all events, the masters are determined not to give way, and the unwelcome intelligence has just been received that Mr. Crawshay has commenced the blowing out of the last three furnaces. All labor is at an end in that important mineral district. The iron workers, who are not on strike, are stopped for want of coal, and the vast and numerous chimneys, which in ordinary times vented forth a sheet of flame which gave an unearthly appearance to the district at night, emit no flame or smoke, which gives a strangeness to the scene. The Crawshays, the Fothergills, and the Brogdens, the chief colliery and iron works proprietors of the district, seem to be becoming more resolute every day, and it has been intimated by Mr. Fothergill that he will not open his works until he can be sure of working them at a profit. This state of things naturally produces much caution in every branch of business. Many firms are unwilling to accept contracts without the strike clause is included, and now, therefore, it is the general custom to insert it. There is still, however, great determination on both sides, and it remains to be seen if the men will continue to be led by agitators, and in idleneas on ten shillings a week, when only a few miles distant from them the miners are at work, and are earning an average wages per week of £2 9s. 9d. These are high wages for unskilled labor, and yet the greatest dissatisfaction exists. It is possible, however, that a freer use will be made of the coal cutting machine, and that in that way the coal owners will be more independent of the men. This machine can cut, it is stated, 850 feet of coal, yielding from 70 to 75 tons in weight, in eight hours, representing the work of forty men for the same period. Only four men are required to attend to the machine, and it is even said that its general adoption would render it possible to dispense with the labor of 300,000 out of 360,000 men employed in the coal mines of the country.

Telegrams from South Wales received to day allude to the possibility of the strike collapsing, the men showing a disposition to return to work.

The Directors of the Bank of England have made no change this week in the rates of discount, and the minimum quotation remains, therefore at 31 per cent. Partly in connection with the payment of the taxes, and also with the arrangements with the five per cent funded loan, the demand for money has been very strong, and in the open market there has been no accommodation obtainable under the Bank rate of 81 per cent. The Bank of England now holds £11,778,526 of public money, and the supply available in the outer market is therefore gradually diminising, and will continue to decrease until the payment of the dividends in March. The Bank, however, are offering easy terms, and are doing a very large business, the "other securities" having increased during the week to the extent of £1,500,000. The present Bank statement seems to indicate that the lowest point for money has been reached. There will certainly he no increase in the supply until the appreach of the dividend payments, while, with the advance of the year, the wants of the country will increase. Dear articles of necessity and high wages keep a large amount of money in circulation, besides which the farmers will require large sums during the period of spring sowing, as they will have to employ more numerous hands in order to make up for the time that has been lost. The proportion of reserve to ilabilities at the Bank which was rather more than 531 per cent last week, is now rather under 51 per cent. The following are the prices of money :

The arrivals of gold and silver this week have been chiefly from the United States. The former have been absorbed by an export demand for Germany and Spain, while the latter have been taken for India and the East. With regard to the exchanges the chief feature has been a demand for bills on Germany. The following prices of bullion are from the circular of Messrs, Pixley, Abell, Langley & Blake:

| geld.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | a.  | a.      | M. The Clearing House return, for the week ending Wednesday evening, reached the heavy total of £149,243,000, being the highest on record. When it was decided to publish these returns a few years since, the totals were only about £60,000,000 to £70,-000,000 per week. The increase has, as is well known, been very rapid since the Franco-German war, and the suspension of specie payments in France.

In the stock markets a steady tone has, on the whole, prevailed. There has, however, been some irregularity, the dearness of coal having tended to weaken the railway market; but as the railway traffic returns are remarkably favorable, no decline of importance has taken place. Some of the railway dividends declared are favorable, while others are disappointing, and the market has fluctuated accordingly. French scrip, in the early part of the week, owing to a belief that some of the holders of Flve-Twenties would convert into French stock, advanced to 61 premium; but the price has since then been as low as 51 premium. United States Government bonds were very firm in the early part of the week. and the five per cent funded loan was as high as 912, but these are also weaker. In other respects the foreign market is steady. In the consol market there has been an improvement.

The fall of snow has impeded agricultural work, but has probably done good to the soil. Vegetation has received a very wholesome check, and we would now seem to stand a better chance for a propitious spring. After many months of genial breezes from the south and west, the wind seems to have settled in the north and east, and possibly we shall have a long period of trying weather. Speaking, however, from an agricultural point of view, the change must be looked upon as favorable, as it is a seasonable one, and one which checks too rapid a growth of vegetation.

The following statement shows the imports and exports of cereal produce into and from the United Kingdom since harvest, viz., from September 1 to the close of last week, compared with the corresponding periods in the three previous years:

The public sales of colonial wool will be commenced on Thurs day next. The arrivals amount to 93,118 bales, but as a large number of vessels are now due, they will, it is expected, he in. creased to 120,000 bales. The supply of combing wool will be excellent, but high prices are expected to be realized, as the requirements of the trade are known to be very large.

I have just received the following gratifying intelligence from the French Atlantic Telegraph Company and the Anglo American Telegraph Company (Limited):
26 OLD BROAD STREET, LONDON, E. C.,

At a meeting of the Joint Boards held on Friday, the 7th inst., it was decided to reduce the companies' tariff between the United Kingdom and New York from 4s. to 3s. per word, to date from the 1st of May, 1878.

A further reduction will be made as soon as the growth of the traffic will admit of it traffic will admit of it.

The firm of Messre. Ross, Roberts & Co. has been dissolved, Mr. Roberts retiring from active business. Messrs. Ross & Smith will continue the importing and commission business in bagging, will continue the importing and commission business in bagging, iron ties and twine, and are agents for some of the largest bagging mills in the country. We believe they are in position to serve dealers in bagging at manufacturers' prices, and special attention is invited to their card (on the last page) in this number of THE CHRONICLE.

BANKING OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, 5 NASSAU STREET.

New York, Feb. 21, 1878. The CHESAPEAKE and OHIO, the CENTRAL PACIFIC and WESTERN PACIFIC BONDS, all of which have been negotiated by us, we believe to be smong the best and most desirable Invest ment Securities in the market, which in time must become very scarce; especially as the Government will probablypay off, in gold, $300,000,000 more FIVE-TWENTIES during the year, and a large amount of money thus released from investment must find its way into this class of securities.

The CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS, the total amount of which is only $15,000,000, are secured upon a property worth $35,000,000 to $40,000,000, and are fully equal in intrinsic value to the CENTRAL PACIFIC BONDS. They are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000, coupon or registered, and at their present market price, 87 and accrued interest, are very desirable.

The CENTRAL PACIFIC SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS are too well known to require description or commendation. Their total amount is $25,885,000; they have for a long time ranged in market price near or above par. Their market price to-day is 1041@1041.

The WESTERN PACIFIC SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS amount to $2,735,000. This road is now consolidated with the CENTRAL PACIFIC, and the payment of its bonds, principal and Interest, is assumed by the latter. As they have recently been introduced on the Stock Exchange, we expect to see them rapidly rise to the price of CENTRAL PACIFICS, being substantially the same in character and value. Coupon Bonds, $1,000 each. Their market price to-day is 911@95.

We buy and sell, as usual, Government Bonds, receive deposits on which we allow interest, make collections, and conduct a general banking business in all its branches.

FRIDAY EVENING, Fab. 21, 1818

The Money Market.-The money market has contloued very stringent throughout the week until this afternoon, rates for call loans to stock brokers having ranged from 7 per cent gold to 1 per cent a day, the leading government bond dealers generally obtaining money at 7 per cent to 7 gold. To-day there was some relaxation in consequence of the two succeeding holidays, and the desire of lenders to obtain three days' interest, rates were 7 gold to 1-16 in the morning, and in the afternoon loans were made much lower, having been offered down to 3 per cont per annum.

Commercial paper is about; per cant higher than last week for prime names, the range in quotations for best short date paper is 9@11 per cent. The failure of Lizardi & Co., in New Orleans, has had no effect on this market.

The excessive stringency in money seems to arise chiefly from three causes: first, from the low condition of the bank reserves, which, at the present season, is not very satisfactorily accounted for; secondly, from the artificial manipulation or "locking up" of legal tenders by those who wish to decress stocks; and, thirdly, from the daily calling in of loans, and other manœuvres practised by lenders who desire to keep up the high rates as long as pos-

Telegrams from London this morning report a gala in the Bank of England Bullion of £273,000, the discount rate remaining unchanged at 3½, and money in the open market teleg ½ to 1 per cent. lower. The Bank of France this week shows a decrease of 50,000 france in specie.

The banks have made their statement for this week to-day, showing the following comparisons:

The last statement of our New York City Banks (February 15) was very unfavorable, and showed a decrease of $3,497,150 from the excess of reserves. The total liabilities stood at $242,153,20J, the total reserve at $59,239,300, being 1,299,000, less than 25 per cent of the liabilities.

United states Bonds.-There was considerable business in government securities early in the week, but transactions during the past two days have been of comparatively small volume. The closeness of the money market has been unfavorable to a large business. Nothing definite has yet been reported concerning the Syndicate transactions. Prices close nearly the same as last week and pretty firm. At the Treasury purchase on Wedoesday the offerings amounted to $5,128,150, from which $1,000,000 were accepted and paid for, one-fourth in legal tenders and threefourths in national currency.

Closing prices daily, and the range since Jan. 1, have been:

State and Railroad Bonds.-Transactions in the Southern State bonds have been limited; Tennessees are stronger apparently from the prospect that the debt may be funded into a uniform series of bonds and some provision made for the resumption of interest; a funding bill has just been introduced into the Lower House of the Legislature.

The conference of Virginia bondholders at Richmond resulted in the following reported terms of adjustment, viz.: Four per cent interest for 1873 is to be paid on consols; four per cent, on two-thirds of the unfunded debt and on the sterling debt; holders of conpons to receive a non-interest bearing certificate in lieu of the

The holders of North Carolina special tax bonds held a meeting this week and resolved to take proceedings to compel, by man-damus, the collection of a tax to pay their interest.

Railroad bonds have met with a good demand and are less influenced by the tightness in money than any other kind of security. Union Pacific bonds have been stronger to-day in sympathy with the stock. Western Pacific bonds are higher, and Centrals firm at 1044. In new railroad loans a fair business is doing.

Hallroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.-The general stock market has shown no movement of decided importance, though several specialties have at times been active. The leading stocks have been Western Union Tel., Erie, Pacific Mail, Union Pacific, N. Y. Central, Lake Shore, and Bost. H. & E. The speculation in Western Union has been confident and it is said that the company still holds 90,000 shares of its own stock, of which 25,000 shares are held for the sinking fund. Union Pacific has been atrong to-day in consequence of purchases to cover short sales, as the pros-pect at Washington is apparently considered more promising; some of the previous short sales have been popularly attributed to members of Congress.

Prices at the close were dull but generally firm.

The Gold Market.—Gold has be n comparatively quiet this week within a moderate range of fluctuations. The market is still within the control of the clique and moves according to their manipulations. A consideration has been paid most of the time for carrying, and to day the rates for carrying were 3,4,5,4½, 7,7 gold, and 6 per cent and 1-32 per cent to flat for borrowing. At the Pressury sale of $1,500,000 on Thursday the bids amounted to $8,125,000.

The following table will show the course of the gold premium

each day of the past week:

In regard to our monthly tables of stocks and bonds, which are brought forward sgain to-day in THE CHRONIOLE, it seems necessary to call the attention of our readers more particularly to the information contained in them. An old subscriber has made in-quiries during the past month whether any tables of stocks and bonds are published in THE CHRONICLE, and we respectfully call bonds are published in THE CHRONICLE, and we respectfully call his attention to the fifteen pages of such tables published to-day, and on the last Saturday of every month during the year. Another reader has written a suggestion that THE CHRONICLE, in addition to stating the rate per cent. of dividends declared, should also state the place where they are payable. This information has been given in our tables since October 28, 1871—a period of fifteen months—and the suggestions of these subscribers shows conclusively that they do not sufficiently appreciate the value of THE CHRONICLE nor the extent of the information furnished an its columns.

A number of important changes and corrections have been made since last month. In regard to St. Joseph & Denver Ci. y bonds, we have information that the money was ready to pay the made since isst month. In regard to St. Joseph & Denver City bonds, we have information that the money was ready to pay the February coupons, and offered by strong parties who deaired to obtain a controlling inverest in the road. There was some difficulty in the matter, but if the desired interest can be obtained it is expected that the coupons will be paid. The Treasurer of the New York & Harlem Railroad Company has received proposals for $2,000,000 of the consolidated mortgage bonds (issue of $12,00,000) due in 1900, but the offers for $1,000,000 only were accepted at from 102½ to 102½. The Eric $10,000,000 7 per cent debentures are reported to have been all taken in London at par. The holders of North Carolina special tax bonds held a meeting this week in this city, and authorized proceedings to obtain a mandamus for collecting the tax to pay interest on these bonds. It is stated that the Penneylvania Railroad has leased the Northern Central (of Pa. and Md.) from July 1, 1873, at 8 per cent per annum on the stock. The Atlantic & Great Western has ratified the isaue of $4,500,000 7 per cent leased line rental bonds. The conference of Virginia bondholders at Richmond resulted in the following reported terms of adjustment, viz: Four per cent interest for 1873 is to be paid on console; 4 per cent on two-thirds of the unfunded debt and on the sterling debt; holders of coupona to receive a non-interest bearing certificate in lien of the unpaid interest. An act has been passed in New Jersey validating the contract between the New Jersey Central and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Companies.
